The Honorable Donald S. Beyer, Jr.
U.S. House of Representatives
1119 Longworth House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Colleague:

Pursuant to House Rule 25, clause 5(d)(2), the Committee on Ethics hereby approves your and your spouse’s proposed trip to Finland and Estonia, scheduled for May 24 to June 3, 2018, sponsored by Aspen Institute, Inc., with financial support from Carnegie Corporation of New York, Henry Luce Foundation, Democracy Fund, and Rockefeller Brothers Fund. We note that this trip includes four days at your personal expense.

You must complete a Member/Officer Post-Travel Disclosure Form and file it, together with a Sponsor Post-Travel Disclosure Form completed by the trip sponsor, with the Clerk of the House within 15 days after your return from travel. As part of that filing, you are also required to attach a copy of this letter and both the Traveler and Primary Trip Sponsor Forms (including attachments) you previously submitted to the Committee in seeking pre-approval for this trip. You must also report all travel expenses totaling more than $390 from a single source on the “Travel” schedule of your annual Financial Disclosure Statement covering this calendar year. Finally, Travel Regulation § 404(d) also requires you to keep a copy of all request forms and supporting information provided to the Committee for three subsequent Congresses from the date of travel.

Because the trip may involve meetings with foreign government representatives, we note that House Members may accept, under the Foreign Gifts and Decorations Act (FGDA), gifts “of minimal value [currently $390] tendered as a souvenir or mark of courtesy” by a foreign government. Any tangible gifts valued in excess of minimal value received from a foreign government must, within 60 days of acceptance, be disclosed on a Form for Disclosing Gifts from Foreign Governments filed with the Committee, and either turned over to the Clerk of the House, or, with the written approval of the Committee, retained for official use.
If you have any further questions, please contact the Committee's Office of Advice and Education at extension 5-7103.

Sincerely,

Susan W. Brooks
Chairwoman

U.S.-RUSSIA RELATIONS: WHAT IS AT STAKE, WHAT IS POSSIBLE, AND WHY IT MATTERS

U.S.-Russia relations are at their lowest point in decades, comparable in some respects to the tensest years of the Cold War. Washington accuses Moscow of meddling in the 2016 U.S. election, attempting brazen attacks on U.S. and European targets, and undermining peaceful resolution of the Syria and Ukraine conflicts, and the North Korean nuclear standoff. A collapse of diplomatic relations has brought mutual expulsions of diplomats and shuttering of consulates, while both sides accuse each other of violating arms control agreements, and both are developing and deploying new military capabilities aimed at one another. Are the US and Russia set on an inevitable “collision course” in their respective foreign policies, dictated by divergent national interests and worldviews, or is the current impasse more a function of specific policy disagreements and clashes of personalities and institutions?

- How do Russians define their national interests, and how do they see their role in the world?
- How do Russian domestic politics shape Russia’s view of the United States?
- Why does Russia matter for U.S. national interests? Is it a threat?
- What are the risks of continued or deepening U.S.-Russia conflict?
- What U.S. policy approaches are likely to lead to an outcome where Russia is less of a threat and/or adversary?
- Are there prospects for improving the U.S.-Russia relationship? What are our common interests?
- How can the U.S. and Russia manage conflict in the cyber domain, including the fallout of Russian election hacking in 2016, and the risks for 2018?
- Social media has driven a transformation in the global economy and in democratic politics. How can freedom of expression and innovation be protected while deterring states from abusing social media to wage information warfare?
- How does the U.S. Congress (and the Russian Duma and Federation Council) engage on U.S.-Russia relations? Which have been the most significant impacts of legislative action on the relationship?
- Are our current formats for official, second track and unofficial engagement adequate? Are other arrangements needed to manage this relationship?

U.S.-RUSSIA TENSIONS OVER NATO, EUROPEAN SECURITY, UKRAINE AND THE BALTICS
The fighting in Ukraine has become the latest and most costly failure of the Euro-Atlantic and Eurasian security architecture since the end of the Cold War. More than 10,000 have been killed, and millions have been displaced, with the damage to infrastructure and economies reaching into the hundreds of billions of dollars. Russians argue that rapid enlargement of NATO and the EU over two decades has demonstrated the West’s indifference to Russian concerns and objections, while U.S. allies in the region identify Russia as an acute threat to their security, and point to Russia’s intervention in Ukraine as proof of Moscow’s aggressive intentions. Does an “America First” approach lessen the U.S. commitment to NATO?
- What is the risk of military conflict between Russia and NATO?
• How do European states closest to Russia (the Baltics, Poland, and the Black Sea region) think about their own security and the broader problems for the region?
• What is the motivation for Russia’s policy in Ukraine? How does it see U.S. and European involvement in Ukraine?
• Can the Minsk agreements be salvaged as a framework for managing and resolving the Donbas conflict?
• How can Russia’s behavior be modified? What U.S. policies are likely to help lessen the Russian threat?
• Are U.S. and EU policies likely to aggravate Russia’s aggressive tendencies or reduce risks of Russian interference in the former Soviet space?
• What are the prospects for the dispute over Crimea? Will this be an indefinite obstacle to productive relations between Ukraine and Russia, and between Russia and the West?

NUCLEAR WEAPONS, PROLIFERATION, CYBERSECURITY AND STRATEGIC STABILITY

Russia and the United States possess over 90% of the world’s nuclear weapons, and each has the ability to destroy the other in less than one hour. Presidents Trump and Putin have discussed the U.S.-Russia nuclear relationship and have dispatched officials to hold initial talks, but a return to major bilateral arms control negotiations now seems unlikely. The sides accuse one another of violating the 1987 INF treaty, and both are committed to significant modernization investments in their nuclear arsenals. Russia views rapidly advancing U.S. anti-missile defense, space weapons, and high precision conventional weapons as game changers, and the U.S. is deeply concerned about Russia’s defense doctrine, which apparently lowers the threshold for nuclear use in case of conflict.
• Is it necessary and if so, is it possible, to save the nuclear arms control regime?
• How does each side think about “stability”? Is a strategically stable relationship between nuclear powers desirable, or even possible?
• What’s the significance of the relationship between offensive and defensive capabilities (such as Ballistic Missile Defense), and between nuclear and non-nuclear capabilities (such as space, cyber, long-range precision strike)?
- Does either side view nuclear first use as legitimate? What is meant by the “escalate to de-escalate” doctrine?
- How does each side see the threat from North Korea’s ongoing nuclear activities? If the Iran nuclear deal collapses, how is Russia likely to respond? What can be done to address these threats?

9:00-11:00 am  Roundtable Discussion
WESTERN SANCTIONS AND ENERGY FACTORS IN U.S.-RUSSIA RELATIONS
Under pressure from low energy prices and Western sanctions, Russia has seen a significant real GDP decline and a collapse of the Russian stock market since 2014. Yet in 2017, the Russian economy was set to grow by around 2%, and Russia’s government has not suffered anywhere near the negative political consequences that many Western experts predicted at the start of the recent downturn. Although ordinary Russians resent corrupt officials and oligarchs, they do not seem to associate flat or declining wages and living standards with their own government’s policies, and Mr. Putin has remained popular going into his fourth presidential term of six years.
- What is the current state of the Russian economy? What is the state of the federal budget? Is Russia in recession?
How does the state of the Russian economy influence Russian domestic politics and foreign policy?

Is Russia a state in decline or a rising global power? How does this reality constrain or drive Russia’s aspirations regarding its role in the world?

Is Russia effectively isolated as a result of Western sanctions? How has it pursued non-Western economic relationships and developed new trading blocs as an alternative?

What are Russia’s strongest economic partnerships and how has Russia’s trade progressed in the context of its isolation from the West?

How accurate are the frequent statements from U.S. leaders of both major political parties that Russia “doesn’t make anything” other than natural resource exports? How dependent is Russia on commodity prices?

How have sanctions, low energy prices, and structural factors impacted Russia’s economic situation over the past several years? Are sanctions effective to impose significant “costs” on Russia?

The Honorable Donald Beyer
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Don:

I would like to invite you and Megan to participate in a congressional conference on U.S.-Russia Relations: Policy Challenges in a New Era, May 28-June 3, 2018, in Helsinki, Finland, and Tallinn, Estonia during the Memorial Day recess. We have limited space and must hear from you proactively as soon as possible if you wish to participate.

A severely strained U.S.-Russia relationship continues to raise risks for U.S. national security. Accusations have been made that each country is violating the arms control framework that maintains stability between the world’s two leading nuclear powers, while NATO and Russia have increased deployments and exercises in close proximity to one another. Casualties continue to rise in Ukraine and strict sanctions on Russia may remain in place for years to come. In response, Russia has deepened its ties with China and governments that share its hostility toward the U.S. Concerns about Russia’s ongoing cyberattacks, information war and other meddling in the domestic politics of Western democracies underscore the difficulty and the stakes of managing U.S.-Russia conflict. All these issues and more will be analyzed in a comprehensive focus reflected on the attached agenda outline.

We will have a mix of contributors from Russia, the UK, Estonia, Finland and Ukraine as well as prominent American scholars to assist our discussions. Attendance is by invitation only, with no outside observers, lobbyists, or congressional staff. Funding is provided solely by grants from foundations—no government, individual, corporate or special interest funds are accepted.

Under guidelines established by the House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct, we will provide you with a signed Private Sponsor Travel Certification Form affirming that no lobbyists fund this activity, that the Aspen Institute does not hire or retain lobbyists, and that no lobbyists will be present. Our purpose is education, not advocacy.

If your accompanying spouse or family member is a registered lobbyist, under the ethics rules of the House, their participation would not be allowed. Guidance from the Committee will not allow us to accept any enrollments less than one month prior to the conference.

Departure will be on Monday, May 28th and we will return on Sunday, June 3rd. Should you accept the invitation, it is required that you participate through the duration of the conference.
Expenses for you and Megan, including airfare on a carrier with whom we have negotiated a fare, lodging and meals will be paid by the Aspen Institute Congressional Program. Under the ethics rules, no expenses are covered for entertainment or recreation. Congressional participants are limited to only one accompanying family member.

The Aspen Institute, an independent, nonprofit organization founded in 1950, provides a nonpartisan, neutral forum for leaders to discuss critical issues. The Institute’s Congressional Program is designed to promote leadership on selected public policy issues in the Congress by bringing legislators together with internationally-recognized scholars and analysts in high-level discussion. Since the program’s inception, over 450 Members of Congress have participated in the 135 conferences we have conducted.

Enclosed is a fact sheet on the program. In addition to answering any questions you may have, it has proven to be useful in responding to public and press inquiries.

Additionally, we hold breakfast meetings in the Capitol throughout the year to keep Members of Congress up-to-date between our annual conferences. We hope you will be able to participate in the extended educational offerings of our breakfast series.

If you have any questions, please feel free to call me at 202-736-5825. I hope you and Megan will join us for this important conference.

Sincerely,

Dan

Dan Glickman

FACT SHEET

The Aspen Institute Congressional Program is a nongovernmental, nonpartisan educational program for members of the U.S. Congress. It provides lawmakers with a stronger grasp of critical public policy issues by convening high-level conferences in which legislators are brought together with internationally recognized academics, experts and leaders to study their ideas and to explore various policy alternatives. Political neutrality is essential to the educational mission of the program. There is no identification with a political or party viewpoint and no endorsement of specific legislation. Its Executive Director is former Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman and its founder was former Senator Dick Clark. Projects in 2018 focusing on U.S.-Russia Relations, Finding a Diplomatic Solution to the North Korean Crisis; Africa’s Economic, Security and Development Challenges, and Energy Policy Opportunities.

- Participation. Since the program's inception, 450 members of Congress (including 35% of the current Congress), 194 international parliamentarians, political and government leaders, and 921 scholar/experts have been involved. Participation is limited to these individuals, their spouses and foundation representatives. No lobbyists, congressional staff or outside observers are permitted.

- Funding. Since its inception, the Congressional Program has been funded solely by established foundations. Funding is not accepted from lobbyists, governments, or corporations; and honoraria are not paid to members of Congress or scholars. Legislators feel free to engage openly because of their confidence in the integrity of the program. In 2018, funding is provided by the following foundations: the Asia Foundation, Carnegie Corporation (foundation) of New York, The Democracy Fund, the Ford Foundation, the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, the Heising-Simons Foundation, the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation, Charles Koch Institute, the Henry Luce Foundation, the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation, Open Society Policy Center, the Rockefeller Foundation, and Rockefeller Brothers Fund.

- Ethics. The Congressional Program is in full compliance with the rules adopted by the House in 2007, and also conforms to provisions in the “Honest Leadership and Open Government Act of 2007.” Lobbyists have no role whatsoever: they do not plan, fund, or participate in program activities. The Aspen Institute does not employ or retain registered lobbyists. All conference agendas are reviewed by the House and Senate ethics committees.

- Venues. Members of Congress face massive demands on their time. Convening conferences outside Washington gives lawmakers an opportunity to devote time, over a four-day period, for serious learning and reflection without interruption. To supplement the annual conferences, 20-25 breakfast meetings are held each year in the Capitol featuring distinguished scholars and international experts with both academic and practical experience on program topics.
