The Honorable Daniel M. Donovan, Jr.
U.S. House of Representatives
1541 Longworth House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Colleague:

Pursuant to House Rule 25, clause 5(d)(2), the Committee on Ethics hereby approves your proposed trip to Canada, scheduled for August 15 to 19, 2018, sponsored by the Aspen Institute Inc., the Henry Luce Foundation, Democracy Fund, and Rockefeller Brothers Fund. In a separate advisory opinion, the Committee approved your fiancée to accompany you on this trip at the sponsor's expense, contingent with your travel request being approved.

You must complete a Member/Officer Post-Travel Disclosure Form and file it, together with a Sponsor Post-Travel Disclosure Form completed by the trip sponsor, with the Clerk of the House within 15 days after your return from travel. As part of that filing, you are also required to attach a copy of this letter and both the Traveler and Primary Trip Sponsor Forms (including attachments) you previously submitted to the Committee in seeking pre-approval for this trip. You must also report all travel expenses totaling more than $390 from a single source on the "Travel" schedule of your annual Financial Disclosure Statement covering this calendar year. Finally, Travel Regulation § 404(d) also requires you to keep a copy of all request forms and supporting information provided to the Committee for three subsequent Congresses from the date of travel.

Because the trip may involve meetings with foreign government representatives, we note that House Members may accept, under the Foreign Gifts and Decorations Act (FGDA), gifts "of minimal value [currently $390] tendered as a souvenir or mark of courtesy" by a foreign government. Any tangible gifts valued in excess of minimal value received from a foreign government must, within 60 days of acceptance, be disclosed on a Form for Disclosing Gifts from Foreign Governments filed with the Committee, and either turned over to the Clerk of the House, or, with the written approval of the Committee, retained for official use.

The Honorable Daniel M. Donovan, Jr.

ENERGY POLICY CHALLENGES FOR A SECURE NORTH AMERICA

THE ASPEN INSTITUTE CONGRESSIONAL PROGRAM
August 15-19, 2018 Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada

WEDNESDAY, August 15:

Participants arrive in Vancouver

Rep. Dan Donovan, and his partner, Serena Stonick, depart New York at 7:59 am on United 1645 and arrive in Vancouver at 11:24 am.

6:00-7:00 pm

Pre-Dinner Remarks

THE GLOBAL ENERGY PICTURE AND NATIONAL SECURITY: THREATS AND OPPORTUNITIES FOR THE U.S.

The energy revolution of the past decade assisted by fracking technology has put North America into a position of energy abundance, which has transformed traditional energy and foreign policy. Concurrently, advancements in renewable energy and energy efficiency have shifted the makeup of energy consumption with implications for producers, consumers and government policy. Meghan O'Sullivan, author of Windfall: How the New Energy Abundance Upends Global Politics and Strengthens America's Power, will address these trends, their policy implications and what they portend for the future.

Meghan O'Sullivan, Director, Geopolitics of Energy Project, Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University

7:00 pm-9:00 pm

Working Dinner

Seating is arranged to expose participants to a diverse range of views and provide opportunity for a meaningful exchange of ideas. Scholars and lawmakers are rotated daily.

THURSDAY, August 16:

7:00-8:45 am

Breakfast is available

9:00 am

INTRODUCTION AND FRAMEWORK OF THE CONFERENCE

This conference, designed to incorporate both American and Canadian expertise, is organized into roundtable conversations and pre-dinner remarks. This segment will highlight how the conference will be conducted, how those with questions will be recognized and how responses will be timed to allow for as many questions and answers as possible. This format is important to enable full participation with so many knowledgeable and experienced people around the table.

Dan Glickman, Executive Director, Aspen Institute Congressional Program

9:15 am

Roundtable Discussion

THE ROLE OF TECHNOLOGY AND CONSUMER CHOICE IN ENERGY SUPPLY AND DEMAND

Technological developments are constantly impacting the energy industry and giving consumers a wider choice. From the use of "smart-meters" in homes, to in-home generation using competitive renewable technologies, to the advent of fracking which sparked an energy revolution in the U.S.—the continued contribution of technological improvements in the energy sector is a certainty.

- How can government best promote continued technological improvements that provides reliable, safe, resilient source of energy at an affordable cost without heavy intervention in the marketplace?
- Does the U.S. invest adequately in research and development?
- How are the responsibilities divided between public and private research?
- How does federal research bridge into the marketplace fairly without companies using public support for private gain?

Kelly Gallagher, Director, Center for International Environment & Resource Policy, Fletcher School, Tufts University, Medford, MA

*James Connaughton, President & CEO,
Nautilus Data Technologies, Pleasanton, CA*

11:15 am

Roundtable Discussion

THE FUTURE OF THE AUTO INDUSTRY: EVOLUTION OR REVOLUTION?

Major changes are predicted for the near future for the auto industry, with many policy implications. The U.S. and Canada are connected on many of these points with transnational manufacturing and the need to have vehicles that can comply with standards in both countries. The trends toward more electric vehicles and the emergence of autonomous cars raises many policy questions that lawmakers need to begin to consider. Should these trends be left entirely to the marketplace, or are there important roles for government? What role do states have in shaping transportation policies? For example, as California develops the next stage of its greenhouse gas standards, joined by another dozen states, will this defacto set a new national standard because of its market volume, and will it have a similar impact in Canada, given that over 40% of Canada's vehicle production is sold in the U.S.?

- Will better conventional vehicles dominate or will there be a rapid transition to electric vehicles?

- What role do federal passenger vehicle fuel economy standards play? Is this process effective? How do U.S. standards impact Canada?
- What impacts will Canada's carbon tax have on the U.S. market?
- What role will autonomous vehicles play, and when?
- Is there a federal role regarding needed infrastructure for widespread electric-charging of vehicles?
- Will shared—rather than owned—vehicles become more widespread, and if so, what are the implications?
- Do road building standards need adjustments for automated vehicles?
- Will urban mainstays such as parking garages and street parking become obsolete with autonomous vehicles?
- Will drivers be displaced as a profession, with commensurate impacts on the workforce?

Robert Bienenfeld, Assistant Vice President, Environment & Energy Strategy, American Honda Motor Company
Drew Kodjak, CEO, International Council on Clean Transportation, Washington, DC

- 1:00-2:00 pm Working Luncheon
Discussion continues between members of Congress and scholars on the challenges for the U.S. energy policy.
- 2:30-4:00 pm Individual Discussions
Members of Congress and scholars meet individually to discuss U.S. energy policy. Scholars available to meet individually with members of Congress for in-depth discussion of ideas raised in the morning sessions include Robert Bienenfeld, James Connaughton, Kelly Gallagher, and Drew Kodjak.
- 6:30-9:00 pm Working Dinner
Scholars and members of Congress will explore topics covered in the conference. Seating is arranged to expose participants to a diverse range of views and provide opportunity for a meaningful exchange of ideas. Scholars and lawmakers are rotated daily.

FRIDAY, August 17:

7:00-8:55 am Breakfast is available

9:00 am Roundtable Discussion
CANADA'S APPROACH TO ENERGY CHALLENGES AND IMPLICATIONS FOR THE U.S.: CARBON TAXES, CARBON CAPS, OIL SANDS, PIPELINES, RENEWABLE INCENTIVES & TAX POLICY
Canada is in the process of instituting a nationwide price on carbon emissions. As the largest exporter of oil to the U.S., Canada is both in the forefront of trying to integrate policies that address pledges made in the Paris climate accords, while at the same time promoting pipelines and exploitation of oil sands.

- Why is Canada instituting carbon pricing while the U.S. has not yet taken that step—and what does this dichotomy mean for integrated cross-border commerce in energy?
- What are the motivations for Canada to institute a carbon price while it might make Canadian energy less competitive in the U.S.?
- Does lack of a carbon price give U.S. businesses a comparative advantage, or does it disadvantage American enterprises in any way?
- What is the future of the oil sands in a world of moderate oil prices?

THE NORTHERN BELT & THE ARCTIC AND CLIMATE CHANGE: IMPACTS ON AGRICULTURE, FORESTRY, AND COMMERCE AND ITS RELEVANCE FOR THE U.S.

Climate change has had a more pronounced impact on northern climates. In Alaska the average temperature has risen at twice the average for the lower 48 states in the past six decades. This warming has positive and negative impacts which our scholars from Alaska will address.

- What are the principal effects of fast warming on the ecological and human environments in the north?
- Will warming in the north affect weather systems in the temperate or tropical latitudes?
- What are the implications of opening up the Arctic Ocean to commercial use and shipping?
- What adaptation policies can be implemented to better cope with these shifts in climate?

Terry Chapin, Professor Emeritus of Ecology, Institute of Arctic Biology, University of Alaska, Fairbanks
*Gwen Holdmann, Director, Alaska Center for Energy and Power
University of Alaska, Fairbanks*

1:00-2:00 pm Working Luncheon
Discussion continues between members of Congress and scholars on the challenges for the U.S. energy policy.

2:30-4:00 pm Individual Discussions

Members of Congress and scholars meet individually to discuss U.S. energy policy. Scholars available to meet individually with members of Congress for in-depth discussion of ideas raised in the morning sessions include Terry Chapin, Gitane De Silva, Gwen Holdmann, and Glen Murray.

5:30-6:30 pm

Pre-Dinner Speaker

NAVIGATING INTERSTATE REGULATIONS TO FOSTER SENSIBLE ENERGY USE

The federal government is responsible for regulating wholesale energy markets through the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. How do legislators and regulators incentivize sensible energy use in the markets they regulate? How can interstate energy issues, such as Wyoming wind producers having challenges selling to California, be managed better? Former FERC member Colette Honorable will discuss the federal role in easing interstate commerce of energy.

Colette Honorable, Senior Fellow, Bipartisan Policy Center, former Federal Energy Regulatory Commission member

Roundtable Discussion

NAFTA'S IMPACT ON ENERGY USE IN THE AMERICAS

Canada and the U.S. share the same electrical grid. There are numerous gas and oil pipelines that cross our international borders. Mexico imports large quantities of U.S. natural gas. All three countries have numerous intertwined energy connections.

- How does energy fit into the ongoing discussions of reviewing the NAFTA agreement?
- Is the cross-border commerce in energy immune from political vulnerabilities?
- How do overt or hidden subsidies of energy affect trans-border energy commerce?
- Is there merit for more explicit cooperation on energy production and consumption between Canada, the U.S., and Mexico?
- Should there be any limitations or standards regarding private sale or purchase of energy across these national boundaries?

CHANGING CONTEXTS FOR ENERGY AND IMPLICATIONS FOR U.S. POLICY

A rich set of new energy supply and demand technologies is starting to disrupt conventional energy markets. Smart policy can accelerate the adoption of technologies that meet the four key consumer demands of reliability, safety, affordability, and low pollution.

- Which technologies are becoming affordable, or even cheaper than the incumbents? How will those technologies affect existing technologies and markets?
- Which policies are best designed to meet all four energy policy requirements? Which policies are most consonant with a free market driving decisions?
- How can policy ensure that the U.S. has a competitive lead in energy technology?

former Deputy Administrator, Energy Information Agency, Cambridge, MA
Hal Harvey, CEO, Energy Innovation LLC, San Francisco*

1:00-2:00 pm

Working Luncheon

Discussion continues between members of Congress and scholars on the challenges for the U.S. energy policy.

2:30-4:00 pm

Individual Discussions

Members of Congress and scholars meet individually to discuss U.S. energy policy. Scholars available to meet individually with members of Congress for in-depth discussion of ideas raised in the morning sessions include Howard Gruenspecht, Hal Harvey, Sergio Marchi, and Carlos Pascual.

5:30-6:30 pm

Pre-Dinner Speaker

THE FUTURE OF THE U.S. ELECTRICITY SYSTEM:
MEETING THE GOALS OF AFFORDABILITY, RESILIENCE, RELIABILITY, AND THE ENVIRONMENT

A reliable, predictable supply of electricity is a necessity of life in the 21st Century. Power outages wreak havoc, have costly consequences, and reveal a vulnerability that many think should be an anachronism. New technologies offer a rich menu of options for the electricity system, from zero-emissions power supply to a better-managed "digital grid." How is the utility business changing? What government policies can contribute to a secure and predictable delivery of electrical power? What is the best role for the federal government in the future of the electricity industry? Ben Fowke, CEO of a XCEL Energy, a major utility in the West and Midwest, will address these and other policy questions.

Ben Fowke, Chairman of the Board, President and CEO, XCEL Energy, Minneapolis

6:30-9:00 pm

Working Dinner

Scholars and members of Congress will explore topics covered in the conference. Seating is arranged to expose participants to a diverse range of views and provide opportunity for a meaningful exchange of ideas. Scholars and lawmakers are rotated daily.

SUNDAY, August 19:

Participants depart Vancouver

Rep. Dan Donovan and Serena Stonick depart Vancouver at 1:15 pm on United 1944 and arrive in New York at 9:45 pm.

The Honorable Dan Donovan
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, DC

Dear Dan:

I would like to invite you and Serena to participate in a congressional conference on Energy Policy Challenges for a Secure North America, August 15-19, 2018, in Vancouver, British Columbia during the August recess. We have limited space and must hear from you proactively as soon as possible if you wish to participate.

North America has entered an era of energy abundance, made possible by technological advances to produce high quantities of oil and gas from shale as well as advances in use of renewables and energy efficiencies, making the U.S. less and less dependent on foreign energy. Major changes in the auto industry are underway that will have significant impact on energy consumption in the future. Integrated trans-border energy systems with neighboring Canada and Mexico highlights the how federal energy policy can have an impact throughout North America. These issues energy policy questions will be analyzed in a comprehensive three-day focus, drawing policy examples when appropriate from Canada. The agenda outline is attached.

We will have a mix of prominent American and Canadian scholars to assist our discussions. Attendance is by invitation only, with no outside observers, lobbyists, or congressional staff. Funding is provided solely by grants from foundations—no government, individual, corporate or special interest funds are accepted.

Under guidelines established by the House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct, we will provide you with a signed Private Sponsor Travel Certification Form affirming that no lobbyists fund this activity, that the Aspen Institute does not hire or retain lobbyists, and that no lobbyists will be present. Our purpose is education, not advocacy.

If your accompanying spouse or family member is a registered lobbyist, under the ethics rules of the House, their participation would not be allowed. Guidance from the Committee will not allow us to accept any enrollments less than one month prior to the conference.

Departure will be on Wednesday, August 15th and we will return on Sunday, August 19th. Should you accept the invitation, it is required that you participate through the duration of the conference.

Expenses for you and Serena, including airfare on a carrier with whom we have negotiated a fare, lodging and meals will be paid by the Aspen Institute Congressional Program. Under the ethics rules, no expenses are covered for entertainment or recreation. Congressional participants are limited to only one accompanying family member.

The Aspen Institute, an independent, nonprofit organization founded in 1950, provides a nonpartisan, neutral forum for leaders to discuss critical issues. The Institute's Congressional Program is designed to promote leadership on selected public policy issues in the Congress by bringing legislators together with internationally-recognized scholars and analysts in high-level discussion. Since the program's inception, over 450 Members of Congress have participated in the 136 conferences we have conducted.

Enclosed is a fact sheet on the program. In addition to answering any questions you may have, it has proven to be useful in responding to public and press inquiries.

Additionally, we hold breakfast meetings in the Capitol throughout the year to keep Members of Congress up-to-date between our annual conferences. We hope you will be able to participate in the extended educational offerings of our breakfast series.

If you have any questions, please feel free to call me at 202-736-5825. I hope you and Serena will join us for this important conference.

Sincerely,

Dan Glickman
