The Honorable John Sarbanes U.S. House of Representatives 2370 Rayburn House Office Building Washington, DC 20515

Dear Colleague:

Pursuant to House Rule 25, clause 5(d)(2), the Committee on Ethics hereby approves your proposed trip to Greece, scheduled for June 17 to 20, 2023, sponsored by Johns Hopkins University. We note that this trip includes one day at your personal expense.

You must complete a Member/Officer Post-Travel Disclosure Form and file it, together with a Sponsor Post-Travel Disclosure Form completed by the trip sponsor, with the Clerk of the House within 15 days after your return from travel. As part of that filing, you are also required to attach a copy of this letter and both the Traveler and Primary Trip Sponsor Forms (including attachments) you previously submitted to the Committee in seeking pre-approval for this trip. You must also report all travel expenses totaling more than $480 from a single source on the "Travel" schedule of your annual Financial Disclosure Statement covering this calendar year. Finally, Travel Regulation § 404(d) also requires you to keep a copy of all request forms and supporting information provided to the Committee for three subsequent Congresses from the date of travel.

Because the trip may involve meetings with foreign government representatives, we note that House Members may accept, under the Foreign Gifts and Decorations Act (FGDA), gifts "of minimal value [currently $480] tendered as a souvenir or mark of courtesy" by a foreign government. Any tangible gifts valued in excess of minimal value received from a foreign government must, within 60 days of acceptance, be disclosed on a Form for Disclosing Gifts from Foreign Governments and either turned over to the Clerk of the House, or, with the written approval of the Committee, retained for official use.

¹ Please be aware that the Committee's review of the proposed trip does not extend to either the security situation in the destination country or security related to foreign travel in general. We recommend you contact the Office of House Security (OHS) for a safety and security briefing prior to your departure. OHS may be reached at (202) 226-2044 or ohsstaff@mail.house.gov. House travelers should also register for the U.S. State Department's Smart Traveler Enrollment Program at https://step.state.gov.

If you have any further questions, please contact the Committee's Office of Advice and Education at extension 5-7103.

Sincerely,

Michael Guest

Power and Purpose: A Symposium on Mental Health and Democratic Agency

DRAFT Schedule

Overview:

In a democracy, people should be architects of their own future. Yet in many of today's democracies, people don't feel like they can effectively influence the world around them—sometimes close to home, but especially when observing national or world events. This perceived lack of power can lead to anxiety and even paralysis, preventing people from exercising their purpose and developing the civic muscle democracies need to be successful. Our symposium will focus on how we can foster our own sense of agency to benefit ourselves, our communities, and ultimately democracy itself.

Program:

11-11:10 - Welcome and Introduction

- Hahrie Han, Director, SNF Agora Institute
- Ron Daniels, President, Johns Hopkins University

11:10-11:25 - Keynote Address

U.S. Congressman John Sarbanes shares ideas and insights on democracy reform and access to mental and behavioral health care, drawing on his legislative record in these areas—and in particular, shares how focusing on those commitments can lead to broader and more meaningful democratic engagement.

11:25-12:20 - The Pursuit of Happiness (and Political Engagement)

How can we restore and revive our sense of purpose, for our own health and for the health of our democracy? Nadia Abdallah, a youth and mental health activist who served as Kenya's youngest chief administrative secretary; Deb Roy, director of the MIT Center for Constructive Communication; and Brett Q. Ford, director of the Affective Science & Health Laboratory at the University of Toronto, share insights about the complicated interrelationships between mental health, agency, community, and political engagement. SNF Agora faculty member Lilliana Mason, an expert on partisan identity, partisan bias, social sorting, and social polarization, moderates.

This discussion will be followed by an audience OVA session

12:20-12:55 - Intergenerational Reflections on Mental Health in Activism

Veronica Matus, a feminist activist in Chile during the Pinochet regime, and David Hogg, a gun control advocate and survivor of the Stoneman Douglas High School shooting, share lessons they've learned about preserving their mental health and sense of agency in the face of repression or democratic failure. SNF Agora faculty member Consuelo Amat, an expert in state repression, resistance, and the development of civil society in authoritarian regimes, moderates.

This discussion will be followed by an audience Q&A session

As chair of the Task Force on Strengthening Democracy and a senior member of the House Energy and Commerce Subcommittee on Health, the SNF Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University, whose mission is to strengthen global democracy, has invited Congressman Sarbanes to speak at a symposium on the intersection of democracy and mental health. In the last Congress and for the preceding decade, Congressman Sarbanes led the effort to pass major democracy reform legislation — HR1, the For the People Act — and he is a nationally recognized leader on these issues. He has also introduced and passed several bills related to mental and behavioral health. Providing the keynote for this symposium will help to deepen his work and leadership on this important topic.

Power and Purpose: A Symposium on Mental Health and Democratic Agency

DRAFT Schedule

Overview:

In a democracy, people should be architects of their own future. Yet in many of today's democracies, people don't feel like they can effectively influence the world around them— sometimes close to home, but especially when observing national or world events. This perceived lack of power can lead to anxiety and even paralysis, preventing people from exercising their purpose and developing the civic muscle democracies need to be successful. Our symposium will focus on how we can foster our own sense of agency to benefit ourselves, our communities, and ultimately democracy itself.

Program:

11-11:10 - Welcome and Introduction

- Hahrie Han, Director, SNF Agora Institute
- Ron Daniels, President, Johns Hopkins University

11:10-11:25 - Keynote Address

U.S. Congressman John Sarbanes shares ideas and insights on democracy reform and access to mental and behavioral health care, drawing on his legislative record in these areas—and in particular, shares how focusing on those commitments can lead to broader and more meaningful democratic engagement.

11:25-12:20 – The Pursuit of Happiness (and Political Engagement)

How can we restore and revive our sense of purpose, for our own health and for the health of our democracy? Nadia Abdallah, a youth and mental health activist who served as Kenya's youngest chief administrative secretary; Deb Roy, director of the MIT Center for Constructive Communication; and Brett Q. Ford, director of the Affective Science & Health Laboratory at the University of Toronto, share insights about the complicated interrelationships between mental health, agency, community, and political engagement. SNF Agora faculty member Lilliana Mason, an expert on partisan identity, partisan bias, social sorting, and social polarization, moderates.

This discussion will be followed by an audience O&A session

12:20-12:55 - Intergenerational Reflections on Mental Health in Activism

Veronica Matus, a feminist activist in Chile during the Pinochet regime, and David Hogg, a gun control advocate and survivor of the Stoneman Douglas High School shooting, share lessons they've learned about preserving their mental health and sense of agency in the face of repression or democratic failure. SNF Agora faculty member Consuelo Amat, an expert in state repression, resistance, and the development of civil society in authoritarian regimes, moderates.
