Preliminary Agenda

Friday, August 2

5.00 am – 12.00 pm, Departures

All delegates depart the US between 5:00 am and 12:00 pm.

2.00 pm – 4.00 pm, Arrivals

All delegates arrive in Bogota, Colombia.

5.00 pm – 6.00 pm, In Country Briefing with the US Embassy in Bogota

U.S. Embassy in Bogota

Delegates will meet with the US Charge d’Affaires Francisco “Paco” Palmieri and his team to be briefed about recent developments in the US-Colombia bilateral relationship. Colombia receives more US assistance than any other country in the Western Hemisphere. Members will have the opportunity to ask questions and learn more about US programs in Colombia and the perspective of the US embassy on the current situation in the country.

8.00 pm – 10.00 pm, Dinner with President Gustavo Petro

Restaurant TBD

Colombian President Gustavo Petro will host a dinner with all the attending delegations. The dinner will allow Members to hear directly from President Petro about his first two years in office and the government’s policy priorities during the remainder of his administration. His domestic agenda has included a series of legislative reforms, including tax and pension reforms, and the pursuit of “Total Peace” negotiations with all of the country’s remaining irregular armed groups. On the international front Petro has called for regional and global action, including greater Latin American integration, a commitment to zero deforestation in the Amazon by 2030, a global Marshall Plan to address climate change, and the phasing out of fossil fuel extraction. Members will have the opportunity to converse with President Petro over dinner and learn more about his priorities and challenges during his time in office.

Saturday, August 3

7.00 am – 8.00 am, Breakfast at the hotel

8.15 am, Leave the hotel

9.00 am – 11.00 am, Opening Session

Colombia National Congress

- Keynote Speech by President Petro
- Country presentations
- Discussion

President Petro will make introductory remarks regarding the Pan American Parliamentary Congress and its themes, as well as the situation in Colombia. This session also provides an opportunity for all the delegations to present opening statements to the Pan American Parliamentary Congress. During the discussion period, the delegates will have the opportunity to react to the other opening statements, as well as ask questions and respond to feedback from counterparts.

11.00 am – 11.30 am, Coffee break

11.30 am – 1.30 pm, Discussion #1: Democracy and Human Rights

Colombia National Congress

- Country presentations
- Discussion

Over the past decade, democracy in the region has faced serious challenges including disinformation campaigns and efforts to overturn election results. In this session, country delegations will share experiences in such areas as countering disinformation and protecting democratic institutions. The goal is to share best practices for strong, resilient democratic governance in an era of deepening polarization, increasing authoritarianism, and high levels of distrust in democratic institutions.

In addition, this session will include space for discussion about advancing human rights, including the rights of women, indigenous and Afro-descendent communities and LGBTQI+ persons, and the social and economic rights of marginalized peoples.

1.30 pm – 3.30 pm, Lunch

3.30 pm – 5.30 pm, Discussion #2: Peace

Colombia National Congress

- Country presentations
- Discussion

In this session delegations will discuss their priorities for rethinking policies and addressing challenges that affect peace, security, and human rights in the region. The discussion will center around how to develop lasting and total peace in the hemisphere. Topics of discussion could include drug policy, risk of a new Cold War, and factors that contribute to migration.

5.30 pm, Transportation back to hotel

6.00 pm – 7.45 pm, Bilateral meetings

Hilton Bogota

Members of Congress will be able to meet and engage with counterparts attending the Pan American Parliamentary Congress on a bilateral basis. This is an important opportunity for members to put forward their priorities, share experiences, exchange best practices, and learn about the state of affairs in other countries in the hemisphere relating to the Pan American Parliamentary Congress' main themes.

7.45 pm, Transportation to dinner

8.00 pm – 10.00 pm, Dinner with Vice President Francia Márquez Mina

Restaurant TBD

Members will have the opportunity to have dinner with Francia Márquez Mina to learn about Indigenous and Afro-Colombian involvement in the ongoing peace processes, the defense of ancestral lands, food sovereignty, and her recent calls for climate action, including proposals for debt swaps and reforms to international financial institutions. Before becoming Colombia's first Afro-Colombian Vice President, Márquez led a black, feminist political movement called Soy Porque Somos (I Am Because We Are).

Sunday, August 4

7.00 am – 8.30 am, Breakfast at the hotel

8.45 am, Leave the hotel

9.00 am – 11.00 am, Discussion #3: Climate

Colombia National Congress

- Country presentations
- Discussion

Since January 2024, more than 10,000 wildfires have burned through the Amazon. Climate scientists warn that record-high temperatures and extreme drought caused by climate change threaten to turn the Amazon rainforest into a savannah by 2050. The coming decades could see millions of climate refugees being displaced. This session aims to share initiatives that countries and broad-based movements are undertaking to address climate change, such as the development of the Amazon Fund and the promotion of green development policies.

11.00 am – 11.30 am, Coffee break

11.30 am – 1.30 pm, Planning the future of the Pan American Parliamentary Congress
Colombia National Congress

In this session delegates will discuss the future of the Pan American Parliamentary Congress and how, in the interim, to keep the conversation going regarding issues of common concern and interest that emerged during the preceding sessions.

1.30 pm – 2.30 pm, Lunch

2.30 pm, Transportation back to hotel

3.00 pm – 5.00 pm, Bilateral Meetings
Hilton Bogota

Members of Congress will be able to meet and engage with counterparts attending the Pan American Parliamentary Congress on a bilateral basis. This is an important opportunity for members to put forward their priorities, share experiences, exchange best practices, and learn about the state of affairs in other countries in the hemisphere relating to the Pan American Parliamentary Congress' themes.

5.30 pm, Transportation to cultural activity

6.00 pm – 7.30 pm, Cultural activity at the Delia Zapata Theatre in Bogotá

7.30 pm, Transportation to dinner

8.00 pm – 10.00 pm, Closing Dinner
Restaurant TBD

Monday, August 4

7.00 am – 8.30 am, Breakfast at the hotel

8.45 am, Leave the hotel

9.00 am – 11.00 am, Preparation for the Pan American Parliamentary Congress' Declaration
Colombia National Congress

The Declaration of Bogotá will be a summary of the outcomes of the participants' discussions and the shared principles. This Declaration will be finalized during the Pan American Parliamentary Congress and released to the public in a following press conference.

11.30 am – 12.30 pm, Press Conference

Colombia National Congress

Delegates will attend a press conference in which the Declaration of Bogotá will be shared with the media. They will answer questions about the themes and shared principles discussed during the Pan American Parliamentary Congress.

12.30 pm – 1.30 pm, Lunch

1.30, Departures

All delegates depart Bogota between 1:30 pm and 5:00 pm.

12. The Center for Economic and Policy Research (CEPR) was established in 1999 to promote democratic debate on the most important economic and social issues that affect people's lives. In order for citizens to effectively exercise their voices in a democracy, they should be informed about the problems and choices that they face. CEPR is committed to presenting economic and foreign policy issues in an accurate and understandable manner, so that the public is better prepared to choose among the various policy options. Toward this end, CEPR conducts both professional research and public education.

The Pan American Parliamentary Congress fulfills this mission by providing members of the US Congress with an overview of the challenges that Latin American countries face in the areas of democracy and human rights, peace and climate. The Congress provides a space for country delegations to share experiences and perspectives related to common policy issues.

The Center for Economic and Policy Research (CEPR) is a co-sponsor of the Pan American Parliamentary Congress and is responsible for the organization and logistics of the US delegation. Organizational tasks include (i) selecting delegates from the US House of Representatives to join the Pan American Parliamentary Congress (ii) briefing US House of Representatives and providing them with background materials, (iii) and coordinating bi-lateral meetings for US Members of Congress and country delegations during the Pan American Parliamentary Congress. Logistics refers to contracting local transportation, photography, interpretation, and coordinating the panel sessions of the Pan American Parliamentary Congress.

May 2, 2024
Washington, DC

Dear Representative Ramirez,

The Center for Economic and Policy Research (CEPR) cordially invites you to join a high-level Congressional delegation (NODEL) that will participate in the inaugural PanAmerican Parliamentary Congress in Bogotá, Colombia from August 2 – 5, 2024.

Co-convened by the Presidency of the Republic of Colombia, a consortium of regional universities across Colombia, and CEPR, the Congress will bring together leaders from across the hemisphere for three days of discussions and debate in the country's capital of Bogotá.

The purpose of the Congress is to address the major challenges facing the western hemisphere, which require international cooperation and a robust platform to facilitate communication, deliberation and the implementation of common initiatives amongst political leaders throughout the Americas.

The 2024 Bogotá Congress intends to alleviate the challenge of intercontinental coordination by bringing together representatives from North, Central and South America to discuss three critical areas of hemispheric cooperation: democracy, peace and the climate crisis. The Congress will provide a space for delegates to address shared priorities and advance shared aims in the fight for justice, democracy and total peace throughout the Americas.

The 2024 Bogotá Congress will bring together regional leaders for the first time to forge lasting ties of trust and collaboration, establishing a precedent that allows for continuity and sustainability of intercontinental political relations.

CEPR is an independent think tank based in Washington, DC that specializes in economic and foreign policy issues. On behalf of CEPR, I want to express our keen interest in your participation in the delegation. We would be honored to have you be a part of this historic delegation.

The delegation complies fully with the ethics rules enacted by Congress regarding privately sponsored travel. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to write to me at main@cepr.net.

I look forward to hearing from you very soon,

The Honorable Delia Ramirez
U.S. House of Representatives
1523 Longworth House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Colleague:

Pursuant to House Rule 25, clause 5(d)(2), the Committee on Ethics hereby approves your proposed trip to Colombia,¹ scheduled for August 2 to 6, 2024, sponsored by Center for Economic and Policy Research.

You must complete a Member/Officer Post-Travel Disclosure Form and file it, together with a Sponsor Post-Travel Disclosure Form completed by the trip sponsor, with the Clerk of the House within 15 days after your return from travel. As part of that filing, you are also required to attach a copy of this letter and both the Traveler and Primary Trip Sponsor Forms (including attachments) you previously submitted to the Committee in seeking pre-approval for this trip. You must also report all travel expenses totaling more than $480 from a single source on the "Travel" schedule of your annual Financial Disclosure Statement covering this calendar year. Finally, Travel Regulation § 404(d) also requires you to keep a copy of all request forms and supporting information provided to the Committee for three subsequent Congresses from the date of travel.

Because the trip may involve meetings with foreign government representatives, we note that House Members may accept, under the Foreign Gifts and Decorations Act (FGDA), gifts "of minimal value [currently $480] tendered as a souvenir or mark of courtesy" by a foreign government. Any tangible gifts valued in excess of minimal value received from a foreign government must, within 60 days of acceptance, be disclosed on a Form for Disclosing Gifts from Foreign Governments and either turned over to the Clerk of the House, or, with the written approval of the Committee, retained for official use.

¹ Please be aware that the Committee's review of the proposed trip does not extend to either the security situation in the destination country or security related to foreign travel in general. We recommend you contact the Office of House Security (OHS) for a safety and security briefing prior to your departure. OHS may be reached at (202) 226-2044 or ohsstaff@mail.house.gov. House travelers should also register for the U.S. State Department's Smart Traveler Enrollment Program at <https://step.state.gov>.

If you have any further questions, please contact the Committee's Office of Advice and Education at extension 5-7103.

11.30 am – 1.30 pm, Discussion #1: Democracy and Human Rights (2 hours)

Centro Nacional de las Artes Delia Zapata

- Country presentations
- Discussion

Over the past decade, democracy in the region has faced serious challenges including disinformation campaigns and efforts to overturn election results. In this session, country delegations will share experiences in such areas as countering disinformation and protecting democratic institutions. The goal is to share best practices for strong, resilient democratic governance in an era of deepening polarization, increasing authoritarianism, and high levels of distrust in democratic institutions.

In addition, this session will include space for discussion about advancing human rights, including the rights of women, indigenous and Afro-descendent communities and LGBTQI+ persons, and the social and economic rights of marginalized peoples.

1.30 pm – 3.30 pm, Lunch

Provided at the Congress

3.30 pm – 5.30 pm, Discussion #2: Peace (2 hours)

Centro Nacional de las Artes Delia Zapata

- Country presentations
- Discussion

In this session delegations will discuss their priorities for rethinking policies and addressing challenges that affect peace, security, and human rights in the region. The discussion will center around how to develop lasting and total peace in the hemisphere. Topics of discussion could include drug policy, risk of a new Cold War, and factors that contribute to migration.

5.30 pm, Transportation back to hotel

6.00 pm – 7.45 pm, Bilateral meetings (1.75 hours)

Hotel Tequendama

Members of Congress will be able to meet and engage with counterparts attending the Pan American Parliamentary Congress, as well as officials of the Colombian government and members of civil society, on a bilateral basis. This is an opportunity for members to share experiences, exchange best practices, and learn about the state of affairs in other countries in the hemisphere relating to the Pan American Parliamentary Congress' main themes.

End of official activities

Sunday, August 4 (6 hours)

7.00 am – 8.30 am, Breakfast at the hotel

8.45 am, Leave the hotel

9.00 am – 11.00 am, Discussion #3: Climate (2 hours)

Centro Nacional de las Artes Delia Zapata

- Country presentations

- Discussion

Since January 2024, more than 10,000 wildfires have burned through the Amazon. Climate scientists warn that record-high temperatures and extreme drought caused by climate change threaten to turn the Amazon rainforest into a savannah by 2050. The coming decades could see the displacement of millions of climate refugees. This session aims to share initiatives that countries and broad-based movements are undertaking to address climate change, such as the development of the Amazon Fund and the promotion of sustainable development policies.

11.00 am – 11.30 am, Coffee break

11.30 am – 1.30 pm, Planning the future of the Pan American Parliamentary Congress (2 hours)

Centro Nacional de las Artes Delia Zapata

In this session, delegates will discuss the future of the Pan American Parliamentary Congress and how, in the interim, to keep the conversation going regarding issues of common concern and interest that emerged during the preceding sessions.

Conversation will be limited to high-level discussions and feedback on the experience of the Congress.
