12. Description of the sponsor's interest in the subject matter of the trip and its role in organizing and/or conducting the trip:

The UN Foundation (UNF) works to educate all Americans, including the U.S. Congress, on the importance of a strong U.S.-UN relationship, with a focus on interconnected issues such as global health, nutrition, sustainable development, and peace and security. This learning trip provides an opportunity for policymakers to better understand bilateral and multilateral efforts to strengthen health systems, respond to food insecurity and nutrition challenges, protect cultural and religious heritage, enhance disaster preparedness, advance economic growth, and promote good governance in Nepal and Bhutan.

The Eleanor Crook Foundation (ECF) was founded in 1997 with a single goal: to eradicate global malnutrition. ECF invests in research that proves what methods work, policy analysis to drive systems reform, and advocacy that makes the case for urgent action to address this global crisis. In 2017, the Foundation pledged $100 million towards the elimination of global malnutrition.

UNF is organizing all aspects of the program/logistics. UNF handles all outreach to congressional offices and is the contact for planning purposes. UNF received a grant from ECF to partially support this trip. ECF has not played any role in organizing this trip and has not been involved in the selection or invitation of the trip participants.

15b2. Provide the reason for selecting the location of the event or trip:

Bhutan and Nepal have made meaningful progress in development over the past two decades, but both countries continue to face structural challenges linked to geography, inequality, and economic transition. Nepal, still recovering from the long-term effects of the 2015 earthquake and periodic political instability, struggles with limited infrastructure in its mountainous and rural regions, high rates of labor migration, and uneven access to services. Bhutan, while praised for its Gross National Happiness philosophy and relatively strong social indicators, faces constraints due to its small economy, youth unemployment, reliance on hydropower exports, and vulnerability to extreme weather.

In both countries, remote terrain makes road access, service delivery, and market connectivity difficult, slowing inclusive development and increasing disparities between urban centers and rural communities. Health and nutrition challenges remain significant, particularly in rural and marginalized populations. Nepal has reduced maternal and child mortality, yet malnutrition persists, with stunting and anemia affecting many children and women, especially in poorer provinces. Access to quality healthcare can be limited by distance, staffing shortages, and out-of-pocket costs. Bhutan provides free basic healthcare, but non-communicable diseases such as hypertension and diabetes are rising, while some remote communities still face gaps in specialized care. Both countries also confront the double burden of malnutrition—continued undernutrition alongside growing rates of overweight and diet-related diseases—compounded by climate-related food insecurity and limited dietary diversity in high-altitude or isolated areas.

Over the course of six days, the delegation will engage with the UN Country Teams in Nepal and Bhutan, U.S. Embassy Kathmandu, and senior officials from the Government of Nepal and the Kingdom of Bhutan to discuss these challenges in-depth and observe how the UN is working with local stakeholders to respond to needs on the ground, including efforts to expand economic empowerment, promote good governance, enhance disaster preparedness, protect cultural and religious heritage, and expand access to quality healthcare—especially in maternal and child health, immunization coverage, and nutrition.

Lastly, strategically sandwiched between China and India, this trip will be an opportunity to assess some of the larger geopolitical developments at play in the region, including evolving great power dynamics and their implications for continued U.S. leadership in the region.

Situated 5km southeast of Kathmandu valley, Patan is considered the oldest among the three cities of Kathmandu valley and enclosed by four stupas erected by Emperor Ashoka in 3rd century BC. Durbar Square (which translates to “palace” or “a court held by a prince”) is an important site for Buddhist and Hindu rituals, holy ceremonies, royal events, and kingly coronations. Designated a UNESCO World Heritage site in 1979, Patan is well known for its artistic culture and home to what many consider one of the best museums in Asia.

Heavily impacted by the devastating 2015 earthquakes, Patan Durbar Square has been largely rebuilt. In 2019, U.S. Embassy Kathmandu awarded a $150,000 grant to the Kathmandu Valley Preservation Trust (KVPT) to support the conservation and seismic strengthening of 18th-Century Octagonal Krishna Temple in at Patan Durbar Square, which was built in 1723 A.D The project stabilized, seismically strengthened, and supported urgent restoration work needed to conserve the temple. As part of the Kathmandu Valley Preservation Trust’s (KVPT) five-year earthquake response campaign, the project employed local artisans to restore this historic stone structure using the highest international standards.

Dinesh Prasad Bhatta, Chief Executive of the National Disaster Risk Reduction and Management Authority to learn how the NDRRMA plays a pivotal role in addressing the country's vulnerability to various natural and human-made disasters. It is responsible for coordinating disaster risk reduction and management efforts across the nation. Nepal, situated in a seismically active region with a diverse topography, faces a range of hazards, including earthquakes, floods, landslides, and avalanches. As such, the NDRRMA's role is of utmost importance in safeguarding the lives and property of the people of Nepal.

The NDRRMA was established to consolidate and strengthen the country's disaster management efforts. Its formation was prompted by the devastating earthquake that struck Nepal in April 2015, which highlighted the need for a more coordinated and robust approach to disaster preparedness and response. Prior to the establishment of the NDRRMA, disaster management in Nepal was fragmented, with various government agencies and organizations working independently.

- 7:45am Arrive Gautam Buddha International Airport – Bhairahawa (BWA)
- 8:00am – 8:30am Transit to the Province Health Logistics Management Centre
- 8:30am – 9:00am Courtesy Visit with the Director of the Province Health Logistics Management Centre

The delegation will meet with the Director of the Province Health Logistics Management Centre (PHLMC), a government body under the Lumbini Provincial Government’s Ministry of Health responsible for managing the supply and distribution of health-related materials across all 12 districts of Lumbini Province. Established in April 2019, its core roles include forecasting, procuring, storing and distributing medicines, vaccines, medical equipment, diagnostic kits and other supplies needed by provincial hospitals and local health facilities. It also supports cold chain management for vaccines, maintenance of biomedical equipment, strengthening of the logistics information system (LMIS/e-LMIS), and the planning and implementation of public procurement processes in line with government rules. By building a network of medical stores at federal, provincial, district and local levels, the centre helps ensure that essential health commodities are available where they are needed and enables evidence-based decision-making through supply chain data analysis.

Location: Province Health Logistics Management Centre

- 9:00am – 9:05am Transit via car to the Visit to Inpatient Nutrition Rehabilitation Center and Inpatient Therapeutic Centre (Lumbini Provincial Hospital)
- 9:05am – 9:35am Visit to Inpatient Nutrition Rehabilitation Center and Inpatient Therapeutic Centre

The delegation will visit the Nutrition Rehabilitation Center (NRC) at Lumbini Provincial Hospital—a specialized inpatient unit that treats young children suffering from severe acute malnutrition. The center provides round-the-clock medical supervision, therapeutic feeding with nutrient-dense formulas such as F-75 and F-100, treatment for related infections or complications, and structured nutrition plans to help children safely regain weight and strength. Caregivers stay with their children during admission and receive counseling on breastfeeding, complementary feeding, hygiene, and home-based nutrition practices to prevent relapse after discharge. Once stabilized, children are referred for outpatient follow-up closer to home to ensure continued recovery and monitoring.

Malnutrition remains a serious public health challenge in Lumbini Province, especially among children under five. According to recent health data, around 16% of young children in the province suffer from wasting—a form of acute malnutrition where a child is too thin for their height—which is the highest concentration of malnutrition in the country and significantly higher than Nepal’s national average of about 8%. This means that a large proportion of children in Lumbini are not receiving adequate nutrition, making them more vulnerable to illness and increased risk of mortality if not treated promptly. Other surveys show that overall malnutrition rates—measured through indicators such as underweight and stunting—have also been stubbornly high and, in some districts, have increased in recent years, reflecting ongoing food insecurity, limited access to nutrient-rich diets, and gaps in public health and nutrition education.

Location: Lumbini Provincial Hospital

9:35am – 10:05am Visit to Lumbini Provincial Hospital and Tour of Antiretroviral Therapy (ART) Center, Maternity Ward, and Pediatric Ward

After visiting the Nutrition Rehabilitation Center, the delegation will briefly tour other important sections of Lumbini Provincial Hospital, which is a major government-run provincial hospital that serves as a crucial healthcare hub for people across Lumbini Province and surrounding regions, providing medical services to hundreds of thousands of patients each year. Originally established as a smaller zonal facility, it has grown into one of the largest public hospitals in the country, offering a wide range of outpatient, inpatient, emergency and specialized care to patients regardless of their ability to pay.

Location: Lumbini Provincial Hospital

10:20am – 11:00am Visit to Outpatient Therapeutic Center at Shanknagar Health Post

The delegation will visit the Outpatient Therapeutic Center, which offers services for children aged 6–59 months with moderate and severe acute malnutrition without medical complications. OTC provides children with ready-to-use therapeutic foods (RUTF), Super Cereal Plus, basic medicines, regular monitoring, and counselling for caregivers on nutrition and feeding practices, without needing hospital admission.

The OTC is part of Nepal’s Integrated Management of Acute Malnutrition (IMAM) programme and accounts for the majority of malnutrition treatment delivered across the province’s decentralized health system. In recent years, according to national health reports, thousands of children in Lumbini Province have accessed OTC services at local facilities as part of these community-based nutrition interventions.

Completed in 2015 to commemorate the 60th anniversary of the fourth king, Jigme Singye Wangchuck, the massive bronze statue is gilded in gold and sits atop a hill in Kuenselphodrang Nature Park. The delegation will learn how the Great Buddha Dordenma holds profound religious and cultural significance for Bhutan, a country where Vajrayana Buddhism shapes national identity and daily life. The statue represents Shakyamuni Buddha, whose teachings form the spiritual foundation of Bhutanese society, and its presence overlooking Thimphu symbolizes wisdom, compassion, and protection for the nation.

For many Bhutanese, the monument is not simply a landmark but a sacred space for prayer, pilgrimage, and reflection, reinforcing the country’s deep commitment to spiritual values. Culturally, the Great Buddha Dordenma embodies Bhutan’s effort to preserve tradition while navigating modernization. The delegation will be briefed on how the monument connects the monarchy, religion, and national unity—three pillars of Bhutanese identity and how the thousands of smaller Buddha statues housed within it further symbolize abundance, merit, and devotion.

8:30am – 9:00am Transit via hired car to Druk Wangyal Chortens

9:00am – 9:30am Expert Guided Visit to Druk Wangyal Chortens

The delegation will briefly stop at the Druk Wangyal Chortens, which is enroute to the Royal Botanical Park. The Druk Wangyal Chortens are a striking cluster of 108 memorial stupas located at Dochula Pass. Built in 2004 by Ashi Dorji Wangmo Wangchuck, the chortens honor Bhutanese soldiers who lost their lives during a military operation to remove insurgent camps from southern Bhutan in 2003. Arranged in three concentric circles on a hilltop, the whitewashed stupas symbolize peace, protection, and spiritual merit in Bhutanese Buddhist tradition.

Visiting the Druk Wangyal Chortens offers a rich window into Bhutan’s history, identity, and worldview. The delegation will learn how modern history and monarchy shape Bhutanese identity. The 108 chortens were built to honor Bhutanese soldiers who died in a 2003 military operation and to celebrate the leadership of the Fourth King, Jigme Singye Wangchuck. This shows how Bhutan connects memory, spirituality, and national pride in a single place. The chortens are simultaneously a war memorial, a religious site, and a cultural landmark—illustrating how Bhutan does not separate these spheres the way many Western societies do. In short, a visit teaches you that in Bhutan, history, religion, nature, and governance are not separate domains—they’re intentionally intertwined.

Developed with support from UNDP, UNESCO, and national partners, the hub provides training, educational programs, and interactive exhibits that teach students, visitors, and local communities about conservation, climate change, and sustainable land management. By combining classroom-style learning with the surrounding forest environment, the center encourages hands-on understanding of Bhutan’s commitment to environmental protection and its goal of maintaining a strong balance between development and nature. While visiting the park, the delegation will participate in the park’s “Plant for Tomorrow” initiative, which focuses on enhancing Bhutan's greenery through professional, sustainable plantation projects.

12:15pm – 1:15pm Visit to Phochu Dumra Monastic School and Working Lunch with School Principal, Supported by UNICEF and WFP

The delegation will visit the Phochu Dumra Monastic School in Punakha, Bhutan to learn how UNICEF and WFP are supporting the school through programs that improve the wellbeing, education, and living conditions of young monks. The school is part of UNICEF’s Integrated Child-Friendly Intervention (ICFI) pilot program, which provides services in health, nutrition, water and sanitation, education, and child protection to create a safe and supportive learning environment. UNICEF has helped renovate toilets and bathing facilities, provide clean water and hygiene support, and develop sports grounds and recreational spaces for the children. WFP is also supporting the school with the introduction of a model kitchen to improve food safety, nutrition, and meal preparation for young monks. By modernizing cooking facilities and training staff in hygienic practices, the program helps ensure students receive healthier meals while promoting better nutrition standards within monastic education institutions across Bhutan.

Built in 1637 by Zhabdrung Ngawang Namgyal, the dzong sits at the scenic confluence of the Pho Chhu and Mo Chhu rivers in the valley of Punakha. It served as the administrative center and capital of Bhutan until the mid-20th century and remains the winter residence of the central monastic body led by the Je Khenpo. The delegation will learn how the Punakha Dzong has played a central role in Bhutan’s political and cultural life, including hosting the coronation of His Majesty Jigme Khesar Namgyel Wangchuck in 2008, and stands as a powerful symbol of Bhutan’s spiritual heritage and architectural tradition.

1:40pm – 2:15pm Transit to Wangdue Flood Warning Station

2:15pm – 2:45pm Visit to Wangdue Flood Warning Station, Supported by UNDP

The delegation will visit a flood warning station, which plays a vital role in monitoring river levels and providing early warnings to communities living in flood-prone areas. A service of the National Center for Hydrology and Meteorology (NCHM) in Bhutan, NCHM operates a network of hydrological and meteorological monitoring stations across the country that continuously collect data on rainfall, river discharge, and water levels. These stations transmit real-time information to the National Weather and Flood Warning Center (NWFWC) in Thimphu, where experts analyze the data and issue alerts when there is a risk of flooding or glacial lake outburst floods (GLOFs). During the monsoon season, the flood warning system is monitored 24 hours a day to ensure timely dissemination of warnings to government agencies and vulnerable communities downstream. This system helps reduce disaster risks by enabling early evacuation, improving preparedness, and supporting effective flood disaster management in Bhutan.

- The delegation will visit the Phangyul Irrigation Project in Wangdue Phodrang District, which stands as one of Bhutan’s most transformative climate-resilience initiatives, bringing an end to decades of extreme water scarcity in Phangyul and Kazhi Gewogs. The Royal Government of Bhutan, with major support from the UNDP and funding from the Green Climate Fund (GCF), installed a 38-kilometer pressurized piped irrigation system—27 km in Phangyul and 11 km in Kazhi— revitalizing long-abandoned farmlands and restoring livelihoods. The delegation will learn how the scheme, which cost $6 million USD, now supplies reliable water for agriculture to 285 households, irrigating 1,241 acres and enabling communities to return to rice cultivation after 20–50 years of forced abandonment. The community describes the change as “transformational,” marking a shift from chronic scarcity to renewed prosperity as families resume farming, increase production, and reclaim food security.

Dear Colleague:

Pursuant to House Rule 25, clause 5(d)(2), the Committee on Ethics hereby approves your proposed trip to Nepal and Bhutan,¹ scheduled for April 6 to 14, 2026, sponsored by United Nations Foundation and Eleanor Crook Foundation.

You must complete a Member/Officer Post-Travel Disclosure Form and file it, together with a Sponsor Post-Travel Disclosure Form completed by the trip sponsor, with the Clerk of the House within 15 days after your return from travel. As part of that filing, you are also required to attach a copy of this letter and both the Traveler and Primary Trip Sponsor Forms (including attachments) you previously submitted to the Committee in seeking pre-approval for this trip. You must also report all travel expenses totaling more than $525 from a single source on the "Travel" schedule of your annual Financial Disclosure Statement covering this calendar year. Finally, Travel Regulation § 404(d) also requires you to keep a copy of all request forms and supporting information provided to the Committee for three subsequent Congresses from the date of travel.

Because the trip may involve meetings with foreign government representatives, we note that House Members may accept, under the Foreign Gifts and Decorations Act (FGDA), gifts "of minimal value [currently $525] tendered as a souvenir or mark of courtesy" by a foreign government. Any tangible gifts valued in excess of minimal value received from a foreign government must, within 60 days of acceptance, be disclosed on a Form for Disclosing Gifts from Foreign Governments and either turned over to the Clerk of the House, or, with the written approval of the Committee, retained for official use.

¹ Please be aware that the Committee's review of the proposed trip does not extend to either the security situation in the destination country or security related to foreign travel in general. We recommend you contact the Office of House Security (OHS) for a safety and security briefing prior to your departure. OHS may be reached at (202) 226-2044 or ohsstaff@mail.house.gov. House travelers should also register for the U.S. State Department's Smart Traveler Enrollment Program at <https://step.state.gov>.

If you have any further questions, please contact the Committee's Office of Advice and Education at extension 5-7103.

Sincerely,

Michael Guest
