The Honorable Salud Carbajal
U.S. House of Representatives
2331 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Colleague:

Pursuant to House Rule 25, clause 5(d)(2), the Committee on Ethics hereby approves your and your sibling's proposed trip to United Kingdom,¹ scheduled for June 11 to 15, 2026, sponsored by Association of Marshall Scholars.

You must complete a Member/Officer Post-Travel Disclosure Form and file it, together with a Sponsor Post-Travel Disclosure Form completed by the trip sponsor, with the Clerk of the House within 15 days after your return from travel. As part of that filing, you are also required to attach a copy of this letter and both the Traveler and Primary Trip Sponsor Forms (including attachments) you previously submitted to the Committee in seeking pre-approval for this trip. You must also report all travel expenses totaling more than $525 from a single source on the "Travel" schedule of your annual Financial Disclosure Statement covering this calendar year. Finally, Travel Regulation § 404(d) also requires you to keep a copy of all request forms and supporting information provided to the Committee for three subsequent Congresses from the date of travel.

Because the trip may involve meetings with foreign government representatives, we note that House Members may accept, under the Foreign Gifts and Decorations Act (FGDA), gifts "of minimal value [currently $525] tendered as a souvenir or mark of courtesy" by a foreign government. Any tangible gifts valued in excess of minimal value received from a foreign government must, within 60 days of acceptance, be disclosed on a Form for Disclosing Gifts from Foreign Governments and either turned over to the Clerk of the House, or, with the written approval of the Committee, retained for official use.

¹ Please be aware that the Committee's review of the proposed trip does not extend to either the security situation in the destination country or security related to foreign travel in general. We recommend you contact the Office of House Security (OHS) for a safety and security briefing prior to your departure. OHS may be reached at (202) 226-2044 or ohsstaff@mail.house.gov. House travelers should also register for the U.S. State Department's Smart Traveler Enrollment Program at <https://step.state.gov>.

If you have any further questions, please contact the Committee's Office of Advice and Education at extension 5-7103.

Sincerely,

QUESTION #4

Explanation for Invitation to Association of Marshall Scholars Legislative Exchange Program:

Members of Congress invited to participate in the Association of Marshall Scholars' Legislative Exchange Program were selected based on their areas of expertise and committee assignments. Member's interests and assignments correlate to the programming content that is designed to educate Members on the current state of affairs related to each topic. Several Members also have established relationships with members of the UK Delegation that will participate in the program, which the program is designed to help strengthen and expand upon.

Member	Reason for Invitation
Andy Harris (R MD-01)	Invited due to his interest in fiscal policy, international affairs, and national security matters affecting the U.S.–UK relationship. His committee experience and perspective on transatlantic cooperation would contribute meaningfully to bipartisan dialogue during the program.
Ashley Hinson (R-IA-02)	Invited for her interest in economic policy, agriculture, and democratic governance, as well as her strong communication background. Her bipartisan engagement style and appreciation for cultural diplomacy make her a strong fit for the program.
Beth Van Duyne (R TX-24)	Invited because of her engagement on economic competitiveness, trade, and governance issues affecting transatlantic relations. Her experience in both local and federal government would add valuable perspective to the Exchange.
Blake Moore (R UT-01)	Invited for his work on fiscal policy, trade, and economic competitiveness issues with implications for transatlantic cooperation. His collaborative legislative style makes him well suited for the Exchange's bipartisan environment.
Brian Fitzpatrick (R-PA-01)	Invited in recognition of his prominent bipartisan leadership on foreign affairs, NATO, and transatlantic relations. His longstanding commitment to strengthening democratic alliances makes him an ideal participant for the Exchange.

Brian Jack (R-GA-03)	Invited due to his emerging leadership in Republican policy circles and interest in governance and international affairs. His participation would strengthen bipartisan dialogue among the next generation of congressional leaders.
Bryan Steil (R WI-01)	Invited for his work on elections, governance, and financial policy issues central to democratic institutions. His interest in strengthening public trust and international democratic partnerships aligns with the Exchange's mission.
Chellie Pingree (D ME-01)	Invited for her leadership on sustainability, agriculture, and international trade issues that shape U.S.–UK cooperation. Her bipartisan approach to public policy and interest in democratic institutions align strongly with the goals of the program.
Claudia Tenney (R NY-22)	Invited because of her interest in transatlantic relations, international security, and democratic governance. Her engagement on foreign policy and alliance issues would contribute valuable perspective to the delegation.
Dan Crenshaw (R-TX-02)	Invited because of his leadership on national security, intelligence, and foreign affairs issues. His strong engagement with NATO and allied defense cooperation closely aligns with the objectives of the Exchange.
Dan Newhouse (R WA-04)	Invited in recognition of his leadership on agriculture, trade, and energy policy issues that intersect with international cooperation. His bipartisan approach to governance aligns with the goals of the Exchange.
David Joyce (R-OH-14)	Invited because of his leadership on appropriations, judiciary, and public policy matters, as well as his interest in the arts and cultural engagement. His bipartisan approach and appreciation for cultural diplomacy make him especially well suited for the program.

David Rouzer (R NC-07)	Invited because of his work on transportation, agriculture, and trade policy issues with significant international implications. His bipartisan engagement style aligns well with the collaborative goals of the program.
Del. Jim Moylan (R-GU-At Large)	Invited because of his perspective on U.S. territorial representation, Pacific strategy, and international engagement. His participation would broaden conversations on America's global role and alliance relationships.
Don Bacon (R-NE-02)	Invited in recognition of his strong leadership on national security, NATO, and defense matters through both military and congressional service. His deep commitment to the transatlantic alliance closely reflects the aims of the Exchange.
Don Beyer (D VA-08)	Invited in recognition of his longstanding engagement on international affairs, economic policy, and emerging technology issues. His leadership on innovation and democratic governance makes him particularly well suited for conversations on the future of the transatlantic alliance.
Donald Norcross (D-NJ-01)	Invited in recognition of his leadership on labor, workforce development, infrastructure, and manufacturing issues central to the transatlantic relationship. His longstanding interest in economic competitiveness, bipartisan cooperation, and support for the arts and cultural engagement align closely with the mission of the U.S.–UK Legislative Exchange.
French Hill (R AR-02)	Invited because of his extensive leadership on financial services, international economics, and transatlantic trade issues. His longstanding engagement with democratic institutions and global markets strongly aligns with the Exchange's goals.

Gabe Amo (D RI-1)	Invited for his strong interest in transatlantic democratic engagement and emerging leadership on foreign affairs and public policy issues. His background in public service and bipartisan collaboration aligns well with the Exchange's focus on strengthening U.S.–UK ties through candid dialogue and relationship building.
Gus Bilirakis (R-FL-12)	Invited for his longstanding interest in international relations, security cooperation, and democratic institutions. His experience working across party lines on global policy issues supports the spirit of the Exchange.
Jim Himes (D CT-04)	Invited in recognition of his extensive leadership on intelligence, national security, and transatlantic policy issues. His longstanding engagement with international alliances and democratic institutions closely reflects the mission of the Marshall Scholars Exchange.
Jimmy Panetta (D CA-19)	Invited because of his leadership on international trade, agriculture, and national security issues. His bipartisan engagement and commitment to democratic institutions align strongly with the Exchange's mission.
Julia Letlow (R-LA-05)	Invited for her work on education, workforce development, and community leadership. Her interest in strengthening institutions and fostering bipartisan engagement reflects the core values of the Exchange.
Kevin Kiley (I-CA-03)	Invited for his engagement on governance, education, and democratic institutions, as well as his interest in public policy innovation. His perspective would contribute to thoughtful bipartisan dialogue throughout the program.
Linda Sanchez (D CA-38)	Invited due to her leadership on judiciary, labor, and international policy issues affecting democratic institutions and economic cooperation. Her bipartisan engagement would contribute meaningfully to the program's dialogue.

Maggie Goodlander (D-NH-02)	Invited because of her extensive background in national security, constitutional law, and international affairs. Her expertise in democratic institutions and allied cooperation closely aligns with the mission of the Exchange.
Maria Salazar (R FL-27)	Invited in recognition of her strong interest in international affairs, democracy promotion, and global media issues. Her background in journalism and focus on democratic resilience make her a compelling participant for the Exchange.
Max Miller (R OH-07)	Invited due to his background in public service and interest in national security and international engagement. His perspective on alliance cooperation and bipartisan leadership aligns with the mission of the Exchange.
Mike Carey (R-OH-15)	Invited because of his growing engagement on economic development, energy, and international trade issues relevant to the U.S.–UK relationship. His interest in public diplomacy and cultural engagement also makes him a strong fit for the program.
Mike Kelly (R PA-16)	Invited due to his focus on economic policy, manufacturing, and trade issues central to the U.S.–UK relationship. His experience engaging with international business and policy leaders would add valuable perspective to the delegation.
Mike Simpson (R-ID-02)	Invited for his leadership on appropriations, infrastructure, and environmental policy issues that intersect with international cooperation. His thoughtful approach to bipartisan policymaking aligns with the collaborative spirit of the Exchange.
Mike Turner (R OH-10)	Invited due to his prominent role on national security, NATO, and transatlantic defense issues. His extensive experience engaging with allied governments and intelligence matters makes him especially valuable to the Exchange’s strategic discussions.

Monica De La Cruz (R-TX-15)	Invited for her interest in economic development, border policy, and international trade issues affecting the United States and its allies. Her bipartisan outreach and public service focus align with the Exchange's mission.
Morgan Luttrell (R TX-08)	Invited in recognition of his military and intelligence background and his focus on national security and strategic cooperation. His experience working on complex global challenges aligns closely with the Exchange's objectives.
Pablo José Hernández Rivera (D PR)	Invited for his interest in international engagement, democratic governance, and Puerto Rico's role in broader U.S. policy discussions. His perspective would contribute meaningfully to conversations on representation and transatlantic partnership.

Victoria Spartz (R-IN-05)

Invited because of her firsthand understanding of European security challenges and strong interest in transatlantic relations. Her experience on foreign policy and defense issues offers an important perspective for discussions with UK leaders and experts.

QUESTION #12

Sponsor's interest in the subject matter of the trip:

The Legislative Exchange is off-the-record and not for attribution. It is a multi-party and transatlantic educational program for legislators.

The Association of Marshall Scholars works to strengthen US-UK ties and also the Marshall Scholarship. Historically, the transatlantic alliance has served as a lynchpin for liberal democracy, prosperity and global peace. A valuable thread of this relationship has been the Marshall Scholarship, an educational programme strengthening international exchange and advancement in nearly every field of human endeavor.

The Association supports members of the United States Congress meeting with members of Parliament and British Government through a bipartisan exchange that includes briefs from a wide array of experts, scholars and private sector leaders, and discussions on issues of critical concern to both countries.

Sponsor's role in organizing and/or conducting the trip:

The Legislative Exchange is fully organized and coordinated by the staff of the Association. The staff arrange all logistics and set up all individual meetings that take place between the Members of Congress and their UK counterparts. During the trip, four Association staff members will accompany the Members at all times.

QUESTION #15

15.b.1 Detail the cost per day of meals

- Friday Lunch $40
- Friday Dinner $95
- Saturday Lunch $35
- Saturday Dinner $105
- Sunday Lunch $50
- Monday Lunch $75
- Monday Reception $50
- Monday Dinner - Members on their own
- Tuesday Lunch $35
- All Breakfasts - Included in Hotel Room Rate

15.b.2. Provide the reason for selecting the location of the event or trip

Oxford: Oxford was selected as the opening location for the delegation because it provides a focused, retreat-like environment conducive to substantive discussion and relationship building among participants. The city's academic setting allows for meaningful engagement with leading experts and scholars contributing to the program, many of whom are based at the University of Oxford and related institutions. Oxford is also home to a significant number of current Marshall Scholars studying in the United Kingdom, creating valuable opportunities for interaction between the delegation and scholars participating in the program.

London: London was selected as the second program location because it serves as the center of the United Kingdom's national government and diplomatic activity. Holding the London portion of the exchange there allows the delegation to participate in meetings with Ministers, Members of Parliament, government officials, and other institutional partners at Parliament and across Whitehall. The location also provides access to leading policy, cultural, and research institutions that support the program's broader focus on transatlantic cooperation and public policy engagement.

QUESTION #16 - Explanation of Cost of Oxford Hotel

While hotel rates in Oxford during the month of June are notably high due to limited hotel inventory and significant seasonal demand, the rate secured at the Old Bank Hotel represents a discounted group rate that is substantially lower than prevailing market pricing during the program period. Comparable centrally located hotels capable of accommodating a delegation of this size were either unavailable or offered at similar or higher rates.

The Old Bank Hotel was selected because of its central location and operational suitability for the program. Its proximity to Oxford University colleges, meeting venues, dining locations, and transportation logistics significantly reduces the need for additional ground transportation and allows the delegation to move efficiently between scheduled engagements.

QUESTION #18

Accommodation for family members is listed at only $120 because there is a $30 per night upcharge for elevating a single room to double occupancy at both hotels.

2026 US–UK Legislative Exchange Program

June 11–16, 2026 - OFFICIAL SCHEDULE (Amended 6/1/26)

Overview

The US–UK Legislative Exchange, convened annually by the Association of Marshall Scholars (AMS), brings together members of the United States Congress and the British Parliament for a bipartisan, cross-party dialogue on issues of shared importance to both nations. The multi-day program features in-depth discussions with leading subject-matter experts and Marshall Scholars in Oxford, followed by meetings in London with senior government ministers, officials, and private-sector leaders. Designed to underscore the depth of expertise within the Marshall community, the exchange fosters candid, off-the-record conversations and supports a sustained transatlantic dialogue among legislators committed to strengthening the enduring relationship between the United Kingdom and the United States.

Explanation: This is a full day retreat with the US and UK delegates to learn about and discuss issues relevant to both nations and how they may collaborate in addressing them.

10:00 AM - 11:00 AM:

Session 3: Energy Security

Mindset Amid intensifying geopolitical tensions and persistent regional conflicts, the boundaries between energy security and strategic decision-making are increasingly blurred. This integrated session, framed by Paul Domjan, Jim Watson, and Humza Jilani, examines how a sustained “war mindset” shapes government responses to both immediate crises and long-term policy challenges. Participants will explore how conflict-driven pressures influence energy systems, from supply chain vulnerabilities and resource competition to the acceleration—or delay—of decarbonization efforts.

Drawing on lessons from the Middle East and other conflict-affected regions, the discussion will consider how leaders balance resilience, affordability, and security in times of instability, and how prolonged periods of crisis reshape political priorities, public narratives, and institutional behavior. The session will also reflect on the risks of entrenching short-term crisis thinking, and the challenges of transitioning back to forward-looking governance in an era where energy, security, and conflict are deeply interconnected.

- Paul Domjan Founder, Chief Policy & Global Affairs Officer of ENODA
- Jim Watson, Professor of Energy Policy and Director of the UCL Institute for Sustainable Resources
- Humza Jilani, Correspondent at The Financial Times

11:30 AM - 11:45 AM: Break

11:45 AM - 1:00 PM:

Session 4: Nuclear Deterrence, China, Russia & the Future of NATO

As strategic competition with China and Russia intensifies, the foundations of nuclear deterrence and the role of NATO are being reexamined in real time. This session will be framed by Congressman Mike Turner who will lead a candid discussion exploring the future of deterrence, the credibility and cohesion of NATO, and the implications of emerging technologies and geopolitical tensions for transatlantic security.

1:00 PM - 2:00 PM: Lunch - Informal Peer-to-Peer Discussions

2:00 PM - 3:00 PM:

Session 5: AI, Safety and the Public Interest

Artificial intelligence is rapidly reshaping economies, societies, and democratic institutions, often faster than governance frameworks can keep pace. Framed by Baroness Kidron and Congressman Don Beyer, this session will move beyond a narrow defense lens to examine the broader national security implications of AI, including data governance, economic competitiveness, the protection of creative and intellectual property, and the societal risks posed by unregulated technologies. Drawing on Kidron's work on children's rights, online safety, and AI accountability, and Beyer's focus on innovation, labor, and economic policy, the discussion will explore how governments can balance technological advancement with public trust, democratic values, and long-term societal resilience.

- Baroness Kidron, crossbench peer in the United Kingdom's House of Lords

3:00 PM - 3:15 PM: Break

3:15 PM - 4:30 PM:

Session 6: Trade, Global Finance and Tariffs

As global trade faces renewed disruption, from tariffs and industrial policy to supply chain realignment, this session explores the evolving dynamics shaping transatlantic economic relations. Led by Financial Times Editor Gillian Tett, participants will examine the political and economic drivers behind current trade tensions, the future of U.S.–UK and U.S.–EU commercial engagement, and the implications for business, investment, and long-term competitiveness.

- Gillian Tett OBE is a British author and journalist who serves as a member of the editorial board for the Financial Times and provost of King's College, Cambridge

4:30PM: End Conference Sessions at Rhodes House

5:45 PM - 7:00 PM: Evening Vespers - New College Chapel (Optional)
Holywell Street, Oxford, OX1 3BN

New College Vespers is a deeply atmospheric, candlelit choral service held in the stunning medieval New College Chapel in Oxford, featuring timeless sacred music performed by the College choir — a serene cultural experience that highlights the city's rich musical and liturgical tradition.

7:00 PM - 9:30 PM: Dinner - Sheldonian Theatre
Broad Street, Oxford OX1 3AZ

Explanation: This event will allow for the current Marshall Scholars in the UK to meet the delegations throughout dinner and will include a fireside chat and discussion.

Fireside Chat: The Ethics of Decision-Making in Intelligence

This fireside chat will explore the ethical challenges that arise in intelligence work, particularly during moments of crisis when intelligence assessments inform high-stakes policy decisions. Drawing on their experiences leading the U.S. and UK intelligence communities, Avril Haines, former Director of National Intelligence, and Andrew Parker, former Director General of MI5, will discuss the complex relationship between intelligence professionals and political leaders, the role of intelligence in supporting the rule of law and sound decision-making, and the human dimensions of leadership under pressure. The conversation will be moderated by Owen Graham, a 2024 Marshall Scholar and senior at the United States Air Force Academy studying Aeronautical Engineering and Applied Mathematics.

- Avril D. Haines, Former US Director of National Intelligence and Senior Research Scholar at Columbia University, Deputy Director of Columbia World Projects, a Nonresident Senior Fellow at the Brookings
- Andrew Parker, Baron Parker of Minsmere Member of the House of Lords, former Director General of MI5
