Dear Ms. Voyles:

Pursuant to House Rule 25, clause 5(d)(2), the Committee on Ethics hereby approves your proposed trip to Leesburg, Virginia, scheduled for July 31 to August 1, 2021, sponsored by CRES Forum.

This approval represents the Committee's determination that the proposed trip complies with relevant House rules, federal laws, and Travel Regulations promulgated by the Committee. You should engage in your own assessment of the risks and implications of engaging in travel during the current COVID-19 pandemic.

Invited Speakers: Heather Reams, Evan Dixon

11:30AM – 12:30PM

Session 2: A data-driven approach to conservative climate communications

Although conservatives are often all lumped together as “climate deniers,” in truth, the definitive conservative climate story has yet to be written. To break away from politically-biased stereotypes, it’s important to understand constituents’ attitudes. A sound communications strategy takes the right tools for the job, like polling and community engagement to pull together the right measures of what constituents think about clean energy and climate change, what policies they actually support (and why) and how their attitudes shift over time and geography.

Invited Speakers: Phoebe Ferraiolo (Cogent/former Senator Collins), Michah Yousefi (CRES Forum), Ashlee Rich Stephenson (U.S. Chamber of Commerce/CRES), Neil Newhouse (Public Opinion Strategies)

Invited Speakers: Kevin McLaughlin (NRSC/Formal Senator Cornyn communications director)

2:30 – 3:30PM

Session 3: Messaging Fireside

How can conservatives speak authentically about climate, energy and the environment in a way that resonates with constituents? Can the “party of no” once again become the “party of ideas” ... or even better, the “party of results”? How can listening to constituents and highlighting good stories from within districts demonstrate leadership on the issue, and is that enough to counteract doomday myths from other offices and outside groups?
