Question #4:

Name and title of Senate invitees:

- Collin Miller, Military Legislative Assistant
- Hannah Arvey, Legislative Assistant
- Caleb Kostreva, Legislative Assistant
- Maggie Goessler, Military Legislative Assistant

Explanation of why the individual was invited:

Each of the individuals invited is a Marshall Fellow at The Heritage Foundation. This is a fellowship for mid-career level professionals who work on national security issues. The program focuses on grand strategy, and each of the individuals was assigned a military leader at the Battle of Gettysburg to discuss with his or her peers as we tour the battlefield throughout the day.
Detailed Agenda:
The Heritage Foundation Marshall Fellowship Program Gettysburg Trip Itinerary

8:00 AM — Meet at The Heritage Foundation (214 Massachusetts Ave NE, Washington, D.C.)

8:30 AM — Depart Washington, D.C. for Gettysburg National Military Park, boxed breakfast served ($15/person). En route to the battlefield, we will discuss the battle with the Marshall Fellows, identifying key events and leaders, and getting their thoughts before we arrive.

10:30 AM — Arrive at battlefield, restroom break

10:45 AM — Begin discussion of first day of Battle of Gettysburg on location. We will begin at Seminary Ridge and discuss the events of the first day of the battle, such as the Union commander’s decision to take and hold the high ground of Cemetery Hill and the Confederate commander’s decision not to take Culp’s Hill. We will also discuss where key leaders and units were at and why in relation to the first day of the battle.

12:30 PM — Break for lunch (catered sandwiches, $15/person)

1:30 PM — Break down into small groups, discuss scenarios and decision-making. We will have a series of questions about key decisions that were made during the battle. The small groups will deliberate what the commanders should have done and why, and then present these thoughts to the other groups. There will be a discussion on each vignette, including the real-world consequences of the decisions which were actually made.

2:30 PM — Resume battlefield tour and discussion on location. We will continue the tour of the battlefield, stopping at locations where key events happened and decision were made. We will stop where the Confederate troops assembled before assaulting the Union lines on the third day, and discuss the decision-making process and debate that went into the decision to assault the Union position. We will also stop by Devil’s Den, the Orchard, and Little Roundtop, focusing on the conflict at the end of the Union’s left flank, and finally the culminating engagement on Cemetery Ridge. We will then discuss the decisions each commander made in the wake of the battle.

5:30 PM — Final thoughts, review of day/lessons learned; dinner at local restaurant ($30/person). We will discuss the overall battle from a strategic perspective: what were the goals of the Confederate leadership and Union leadership, how the Battle of Gettysburg played into those goals, and the impact the battle had on each side’s strategy.

6:30 PM — Return trip to Washington, D.C.

8:30 PM — Arrive at The Heritage Foundation, end of trip

Note: at each significant engagement of the battle, Marshall Fellows will discuss the involvement of their assigned military leader. This is what the on-location discussions and touring will consist of throughout the day.
