2302 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Ms. Beca-Barragan:

Pursuant to House Rule 25, clause 5(d)(2), the Committee on Ethics hereby approves your proposed trip to Brazil, Chile, and Colombia,¹ scheduled for August 13 to 21, 2023, sponsored by Center for Economic and Policy Research and Foundation to Promote Open Society.

You must complete an Employee Post-Travel Disclosure Form (which your employing Member must also sign) and file it, together with a Sponsor Post-Travel Disclosure Form completed by the trip sponsor, with the Clerk of the House within 15 days after your return from travel. As part of that filing, you are also required to attach a copy of this letter and both the Traveler and Primary Trip Sponsor Forms (including attachments) you previously submitted to the Committee in seeking pre-approval for this trip. If you are required to file an annual Financial Disclosure Statement, you must also report all travel expenses totaling more than $480 from a single source on the "Travel" schedule of your annual Financial Disclosure Statement covering this calendar year. Finally, Travel Regulation § 404(d) also requires you to keep a copy of all request forms and supporting information provided to the Committee for three subsequent Congresses from the date of travel.

Because the trip may involve meetings with foreign government representatives, we note that House employees may accept, under the Foreign Gifts and Decorations Act (FGDA), gifts "of minimal value [currently $480] tendered as a souvenir or mark of courtesy" by a foreign government. Any tangible gifts valued in excess of minimal value received from a foreign government must, within 60 days of acceptance, be disclosed on a Form for Disclosing Gifts from Foreign Governments and either turned over to the Clerk of the House, or, with the written approval of the Committee, retained for official use.

¹ Please be aware that the Committee's review of the proposed trip does not extend to either the security situation in the destination country or security related to foreign travel in general. We recommend you contact the Office of House Security (OHS) for a safety and security briefing prior to your departure. OHS may be reached at (202) 226-2044 or ohsstaff@mail.house.gov. House travelers should also register for the U.S. State Department's Smart Traveler Enrollment Program at <https://step.state.gov>.

Renata Beca-Barragan
Office of Representative Velazquez

Dear Renata,

The Center for Economic and Policy Research (CEPR) cordially invites you to participate in a high-level Congressional delegation (NODEL) to three countries across Latin America: Brazil, Chile, and Colombia. The dates for the delegation are set for 13–21 August 2023.

Recent years have seen a new generation of leaders flourish in Congress with a commitment to transform US–Latin American relations — just as a new set of governments have been elected in countries like Colombia, Brazil, and Chile with similar objectives with regard to relations with the US. The motivation of this delegation is to take advantage of this unprecedented alignment to address shared priorities and advance shared aims.

Coinciding with the August recess, the delegation will introduce US Members to heads of state, key government ministers, parliamentary peers, as well as civil society organizations at the frontline of peace negotiations, ecological transitions, and democratic transformations in each country. The goal is to forge a new diplomatic relationship between the United States and Latin America beyond and below the executive level.

CEPR is an independent think tank based in Washington, DC that specializes in economic and foreign policy issues. On behalf of CEPR, I wish to express my keen interest in your participation in the delegation. We would be honored to travel with you.

The delegation complies fully with the ethics rules enacted by Congress regarding privately sponsored travel. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to write to me at main@cepr.net.

I look forward to hearing from you very soon,

Temblores is an advocacy organization that was formed to provide victims of police violence with legal and strategic support. The organization has also created a wide social advocacy network to create an itinerant social justice clinic that provides legal support and resources for those communities who have been historically vulnerable and neglected by the State and justice administration system. Members will meet with Temblores and learn more about their work to hold Colombian security forces accountable for human rights abuses.

12. For each sponsor required to submit a sponsor form, describe the sponsor's interest in the subject matter of the trip and its role in organizing and/or conducting the trip:

The Center for Economic and Policy Research (CEPR) was established in 1999 to promote democratic debate on the most important economic and social issues that affect people's lives. In order for citizens to effectively exercise their voices in a democracy, they should be informed about the problems and choices that they face. CEPR is committed to presenting economic issues in an accurate and understandable manner, so that the public is better prepared to choose among the various policy options. Toward this end, CEPR conducts both professional research and public education. The delegation to Latin America fulfills this mission by providing members of US Congress with a panoramic view of the region's history, its current challenges, and the common areas of cooperation between the US and its partners in the hemisphere.

The Center for Economic and Policy Research (CEPR) is responsible for the organization and execution of the delegation. Organizational tasks include: (i) selecting delegates from US Congress and staff to join the delegation, (ii) briefing delegates with background materials, and (iii) developing the itinerary for the delegation. Execution refers to: (i) arranging all logistics for the delegation, (ii) contracting drivers, translators, and photographers, and (iii) coordinating all relevant meetings with government officials, parliamentary representatives, and civil society organizations.

The Foundation to Promote Open Society is interested in supporting this delegation as it aligns with the Foundation's broader mission to foster greater interest from members of Congress on US-Latin America relations. As Latin America confronts risks of democratic backsliding, the Foundation to Promote Open Society aims to support good governance and transparency initiatives throughout the region. A delegation connecting Latino members of Congress with their South American counterparts promises to strengthen the diplomatic ties between the US and its partners in the region. FPOS has provided CEPR with a grant for this delegation. The Foundation did not select or invite any House Members or employees to participate on the trip.

CEPR has invited three members of the Foundation to attend dinners and meetings throughout the delegation: Senior Policy Advisor, Alex Sadler, Senior Program Analyst for Advocacy, Sabrina Stein and Deputy Director of U.S Foreign Policy, Alex T. Johnson.

15(b)(2) Provide the reason for selecting the location of the event or trip.

The Center for Economic and Policy Research (CEPR) selected three capital cities across Latin America as the destinations for the delegation — (i) Brasilia, Brazil, (ii) Santiago, Chile, and (iii) Bogota, Colombia — in order to maximize the possibilities for Member engagement with host countries' democratic institutions and civil society organizations based in each respective capital.
