House staff were invited because of their work on education, workforce development, economic development, and social welfare issues. All have responsibility for these federal issues in their offices. The site visit will highlight the successes and challenges of education, workforce and economic development, and human services programs and initiatives in Austin.

Question #12 Interest and Role of Sponsors:

Jobs for the Future (JFF) identifies sites of interest and priority topics for site visit programming, including featured programs and initiatives, based on their evidence base, scalability, and quality. JFF develops and executes the agenda, coordinates logistics for the trip, and serves as the point of contact for staff. JFF will use grant funding from the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation and the Joyce Foundation to support the Congressional Staff Network and this site visit.

Question #15 (B) Part 2, Explanation of Location Choice:

JFF selected Austin, Texas for this site visit because of the innovative workforce training, economic development, and education efforts happening on the ground, as well as the unique challenges greater Austin area faces in terms of balancing rapid growth with concerns around housing affordability, infrastructure capacity, and support service accessibility.

The site visit will highlight Austin's exemplary workforce development system, which is a national leader in delivering quality business services under the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA). Panels and site visits will explore sector-based strategies for workforce development, incumbent worker training programs that enable upward mobility, and apprenticeship models that expand and diversify talent pools in critical industries. This site visit will have a particular focus on industries impacted by recent federal investments through the CHIPS and Science Act and Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act.

Staff will also learn about Texas' Tri-Agency Workforce Initiative, which has led reform efforts to better connect the education and workforce systems via pathways that integrate work and learning, as well as improved cross-agency coordination on data and resource-sharing. Staff will also visit the Austin

Community College to hear about how they are meeting the postsecondary education needs of those seeking career-focused postsecondary credentials.

During each session, speakers and staff will reflect on how federal policy can help scale, replicate, and better support these innovative state- and local-level strategies. Programming will shed light on federal levers to promote effective education-to-career pathways for people who have not historically received equitable investment from the public or private sector.

Question #18 Total Expenses for Each House Participant (Good Faith Estimates):

Transportation: Round trip economy class airfare from Washington, DC (Dulles Airport) to Austin, Texas = $250 per person. On the ground transportation via chartered coach bus in Austin = $166 per person. Total transportation expenses = $416 per person.

Lodging: Lodging at the Hotel Indigo Austin Downtown for two nights = $368.00 per person (in line with the U.S. General Services Administration (GSA) per diem rate of $184 per night for February 2024).

Dear CSN members,

I am writing to invite you to participate in an upcoming three-day Congressional Staff Network for Economic Advancement (CSN) site visit to Austin, TX from Tuesday, February 20 – Thursday, February 22.

In Austin, staff will learn about the region's evidence-based workforce development strategy, which centers on career pathways, industry sector partnerships, and career exploration/navigation supports. We will visit NXP Semiconductors' manufacturing plant to gain a better understanding of the skill demands in that industry and how employers hope to implement CHIPS and Science Act funding in support of workforce development. Staff will also see YouthBuild programming in action – a model that works to build young people's foundational and occupational skills, encouraging them along pathways to family supporting careers – and hear directly from youth participants about their experience.

At the state level, architects of Texas' Tri-Agency Workforce Initiative will discuss how they designed and are implementing a comprehensive, integrated education and workforce data infrastructure, including a shared data governance policy. This statewide longitudinal data system offers policymakers a model to consider as they evaluate federal programs under the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act and Higher Education Act. Finally, postsecondary system leaders will discuss the impetus for and implications of Texas House Bill 8, which codified a new outcomes-based approach to state community college funding and expands no-cost dual enrollment for high school students. We will also visit Austin Community College's innovative training and community engagement facilities, including the Make it Center, which offers students and families hands-on career exploration experiences, and the Innovative IMPACT Lab, a business incubator for aspiring manufacturers.

Please confirm your participation by Wednesday, January 10. Once you confirm your plans to participate, our team will share final information for the trip, including the agenda and the necessary ethics documentation.

Thank you and we hope you can join us!

Best,
