Dear Members of the Committee,

I am writing to explain the circumstances surrounding the arrival of our employees' team in Washington, D.C. on September 17th, instead of the originally scheduled date of September 16th.

Due to unforeseen flight delays stemming from adverse weather conditions and the airline's delayed response, the employees of House of Representatives were unable to arrive as planned. We prioritized safety and adhered to the airline's recommendations, which ultimately led to the rescheduled arrival date.

Additionally, the late exchange of tickets for different dates and delayed confirmations from the participants resulted in extended expenses for both the Congressmen and employees involved in the trip. Furthermore, the delayed booking updates led to slightly higher lodging costs, impacting our overall budget. We are committed to managing these costs effectively moving forward.

We appreciate your understanding of this matter.

Sincerely,

YES Team
