Teton County Disaster Prevention, Response and Recovery

Nearly 900 counties – representing almost one-third of all counties experience at least one natural disaster each year. As disasters intensify across the country, county governments play a crucial role on the front lines of emergency management and recovery.

*In June 2024, a landslide on Teton Pass, a vital route for Teton County's workforce, disrupted commuting and created significant economic impacts. The county, in collaboration with the federal government, declared an emergency to repair the highway and address the broader challenges, underscoring the need for resilient infrastructure and affordable housing solutions. During this discussion, participants will hear from the Wyoming Department of Transportation along with county law enforcement and search and rescue officials about current operations and federal programs that support the county's ability to respond to events like these, including the Payment in Lieu and Taxes (PILT) and Secure rural Schools (SRS) programs. Lunch will be provided.

Housing Solutions for Teton County

As a gateway community, Teton County faces significant challenges in providing affordable housing for its workforce and residents. The high demand for housing, driven by job growth and limited land availability due to federal protections, has led to escalating property values and a shortage of affordable options. As of 2022, there was an estimated need for approximately 5,300 additional housing units by 2027 to meet the community's requirements. Counties across the country play a key role in housing by managing zoning, funding affordable housing programs, partnering with private developers and administering federal assistance like CDBG and Section 8. For example, the Teton County/Jackson Affordable Housing Department oversees various initiatives aimed at increasing affordable housing. They manage a variety of programs, such as deed-restricted housing, where homes are reserved for residents who meet certain income and employment criteria. Participants will hear from local officials about the various strategies to mitigate the housing shortage and develop sustainable solutions that ensure a diverse and functioning community.

Tour Grand Teton National Park: Tourism, Endangered Species and Gateway Communities

Counties play an essential role in supporting federal agencies such as the Bureau of Land Management (BLM), U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) and the U.S. National Park Service (NPS) in *managing national parks, public lands and the conservation of endangered species. These partnerships are vital for maintaining infrastructure, providing services to residents and visitors and ensuring the stewardship of natural resources. Counties collaborate with federal agencies to develop policies, plan initiatives and implement resource management strategies that align with both federal laws and local priorities. This collaboration is especially important in balancing tourism and conservation efforts, as counties help facilitate responsible tourism while preserving endangered species and promoting sustainability. The shared goal is to maintain public access and protect these valuable ecosystems for future generations. By integrating local expertise with federal resources, counties contribute significantly to the conservation of Grand Teton National Park and surrounding areas. Participants will hear from both county leaders and officials from the NPS about their collective efforts to protect wildlife and manage public lands. Lunch will be provided.

Tour of Bridger-Teton National Forest: Gateway Communities and Forest Planning

Sixty-two percent of counties have federal lands within their boundaries. Even though they are not able to collect property taxes on federal land, county governments must still provide essential services for our residents and those who visit public lands each year, including law enforcement, search and rescue operations, fire protection and much more. Spearheaded by Teton County and the U.S. Forest Service, the Bridger-Teton National Forest is currently undergoing a comprehensive revision of its Land Management Plan, which has not been updated since 1990. This revision aims to address significant ecological, social and economic changes over the past three decades, including increased recreational use, wildlife habitat conservation and impacts of a changing climate. Participants will take the gondola up to the top of Snow King Mountain to hear from representatives of the National Park Service, U.S. Forest Service and county leaders about the challenges and opportunities in managing federal lands in partnership with local governments and will have the opportunity to hike the surrounding grounds. The session will conclude at Aurora restaurant with refreshments overlooking the Teton Mountains.

Touring South Yellowstone National Park: Public Lands and the Federal-Local Partnership

*When it comes to the management and preservation of national parks, counties serve as a key partner with federal agencies in balancing the needs of park conservation with those of residents, businesses and visitors. To continue the conversation from the previous day, participants will partake in a half-day briefing while hiking throughout southern Yellowstone National Park to get a firsthand look at local issues on the ground. As we travel from Teton County towards Gallatin County via the Yellowstone National Park, participants will hear how these counties support essential services like transportation, emergency response and more. We will hear from new agency representatives from the NPS to gain a better understanding of the unique challenges and solutions in federal lands across the country, and how counties serve as intergovernmental partners. Lunch will be provided.

- Hon. Jennifer Boyer, Commissioner, Gallatin County
- Hon. Zach Brown, Commissioner, Gallatin County
- Cam Sholly, Superintendent, Yellowstone National Park, NPS
- Tami Blackford, Executive Coordinator, Yellowstone Coordinating Committee, NPS
- Stephanie Carter, Interpretive Ranger, Yellowstone National Park, NPS
- Clarice Doughty, Interpretive Ranger, Yellowstone National Park, NPS

12:00 PM – 1:00 PM

Lunch Briefing: Recovering After a Disaster and Intergovernmental Coordination

Participants will hear firsthand from Yellowstone National Park representatives and Gallatin County leaders about the 2023 flood at the park's North Entrance, including the challenges faced and the coordinated intergovernmental response. The discussion will also explore strategies to spur economic recovery and address long-term infrastructure needs in the region.

- Hon. Zach Brown, Commissioner, Gallatin County
- Cam Sholly, Superintendent, Yellowstone National Park, NPS
- Tami Blackford, Executive Coordinator, Yellowstone Coordinating Committee, NPS

1:00 PM – 3:00 PM

Touring West Yellowstone National Park: Gateway Communities,

Tourism and Infrastructure Planning

Counties that border public lands often face distinct challenges related to tourism-driven infrastructure needs, seasonal population surges, economic development and natural resource management. During this on-the-ground briefing in West Yellowstone, participants will hear how Gallatin County, its neighbors and the federal government are working together to addressing these issues through a mix of local strategies and federal support. Gallatin County officials will share how communities like their own—which is home to just a few thousand year-round residents—manage peak-season demands from tens of thousands of visitors. Discussion topics will include tourism and economic development, growth moratoriums and transportation pressures, including airport and road infrastructure needs.

- Hon. Zach Brown, Commissioner, Gallatin County
- Hon. Jennifer Boyer, Commissioner, Gallatin County
- Dan Walker, Town Manager, West Yellowstone

3:00 PM – 6:00 PM

Touring Big Sky: Tourism, Transportation and Housing Developments

In Big Sky, where luxury tourism meets natural wonders, participants will continue to explore how Gallatin County is addressing the pressures of rapid growth and seasonal demand. The session will highlight the county's use of a Federal Lands Access Program (FLAP) grant to improve transportation in high-traffic areas, alongside broader infrastructure efforts to support tourism and development. Local officials will share how the county is partnering with the U.S. Forest Service to maintain public access, protect natural resources and ensure safety in popular recreation zones. The conversation will also cover the challenges posed by an influx of homebuyers and vacation property owners in this resort town, which have driven up housing costs for locals and tourists alike, as well as limitations at the Gallatin County airport, which must accommodate a high volume of seasonal visitors. Participants will gain a firsthand look at the intergovernmental coordination and strategic planning needed to sustain vibrant gateway communities on the edge of America's most iconic public lands.

- Hon. Zach Brown, Commissioner, Gallatin County
- Hon. Jennifer Boyer, Commissioner, Gallatin County

7:00 PM – 9:00 PM

Dinner at est. 1864

Gallatin County officials will provide an overview of county operations in Montana's fastest growing and most populous county, where the demands of a rapidly expanding population intersect with the challenges of service delivery in rural communities. Officials will explain how the county—which covers more than 2,500 square miles of diverse terrain—balances infrastructure needs, housing pressures and economic development while coordinating closely with state and federal agencies that manage nearly half of the county’s land. Participants will gain insight into the challenges and opportunities of managing growth, preserving natural resources and maintaining essential services in a rural region known for its scenic beauty and outdoor recreation.

- Hon. Zach Brown, Commissioner, Gallatin County
- Hon. Greg Chilcott, Commissioner, Ravalli County
- Eric Bryson, Executive Director, Montana Association of Counties

FRIDAY, JUNE 20 – GALLATIN COUNTY & DEPARTURE

9:00 A.M. – 10:30 A.M.

STRENGTHENING TRIBAL-COUNTY PARTNERSHIPS IN GALLATIN COUNTY AND THE GREATER YELLOWSTONE REGION

Gallatin County and surrounding jurisdictions are working to deepen partnerships with neighboring Tribal Nations to promote shared stewardship, mutual respect and regional resilience. From coordinating on emergency response and land use planning to preserving cultural resources and advancing health and education initiatives, these relationships reflect a growing commitment to intergovernmental collaboration. By building trust and aligning priorities, Gallatin County and Tribal governments in the Greater Yellowstone region are laying the groundwork for more inclusive, effective governance that benefits all communities.

- Hon. Zach Brown, Commissioner, Gallatin County

10:30 A.M. – 12:00 P.M.

LUNCH BRIEFING AND BRIDGER AEROSPACE DEMONSTRATION

With the rising frequency and severity of natural disasters such as wildfires, counties are under increasing pressure to strengthen local emergency response and recovery capabilities. Bridger Aerospace is a prime example of how counties can utilize tax-exempt municipal bonds to meet these growing challenges. Through a partnership with Gallatin County and the use of tax-exempt conduit financing, Bridger Aerospace expanded its operations and now provides critical aerial firefighting and surveillance services nationwide. Municipal bonds are a cornerstone of county infrastructure financing, helping local governments fund essential projects such as emergency services, roads, water systems and public safety initiatives. Counties invest over $50 billion annually in infrastructure, with municipal bonds serving as a key financing mechanism that saves taxpayers an *estimated $9 billion each year due to their tax-exempt status. The success of Bridger Aerospace illustrates how counties can leverage these bonds to support innovative public-private partnerships, enhance disaster resilience and drive economic growth in their communities and beyond. Lunch will be provided.

As a Member Services Coordinator for the Speaker, I frequently interact with Members and staff discussing local interests and policy concerns. The opportunity for an educational visit to federal, state, and local government locations will build the base of knowledge I use to serve Members.
9. Yes No Is the traveler aware of any registered federal lobbyists or foreign agents involved in planning, organizing, requesting, or arranging the trip?
10. For staff travelers, to be completed by your employing Member:

ADVANCED AUTHORIZATION OF EMPLOYEE TRAVEL

I hereby authorize the individual named above, an employee of the U.S. House of Representatives who works under my direct supervision, to accept expenses for the trip described in this request. I have determined that the above-described travel is in connection with my employee's official duties and that acceptance of these expenses will not create the appearance that the employee is using public office for private gain.

Mr. John Lanning
Office of the Speaker
H-232, The Capitol
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Mr. Lanning:

Pursuant to House Rule 25, clause 5(d)(2), the Committee on Ethics hereby approves your proposed trip to Jackson Hole, Wyoming, and Bozeman, Montana, scheduled for June 17 to 20, 2025, sponsored by National Association of Counties.

You must complete an Employee Post-Travel Disclosure Form (which your employing Member must also sign) and file it, together with a Sponsor Post-Travel Disclosure Form completed by the trip sponsor, with the Clerk of the House within 15 days after your return from travel. As part of that filing, you are also required to attach a copy of this letter and both the Traveler and Primary Trip Sponsor Forms (including attachments) you previously submitted to the Committee in seeking pre-approval for this trip. If you are required to file an annual Financial Disclosure Statement, you must also report all travel expenses totaling more than $480 from a single source on the "Travel" schedule of your annual Financial Disclosure Statement covering this calendar year. Finally, Travel Regulation § 404(d) also requires you to keep a copy of all request forms and supporting information provided to the Committee for three subsequent Congresses from the date of travel.

If you have any further questions, please contact the Committee's Office of Advice and Education at extension 5-7103.

Sincerely,

Michael Guest
Chairman
