*(* All flight times and specific basecamp destinations in the Arctic Refuge are subject to change based on weather)*

- 2:30 p.m. – 3:30 p.m. Discussion: History leading up to and following the first designation of the Arctic Refuge. Established in 1960 as the Arctic National Wildlife Range, it was expanded in 1980 to its current size of 19 million acres and was renamed as the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge. Discussion will also cover recent assessments of fossil fuel resources on the North Slope, the 2017 Tax Act and subsequent mandated lease sales, including those expected to be adopted during the 2025 Budget Reconciliation process, and offshore drilling in state and federal waters. This will help guests better understand Alaska's fossil fuel resources and how their extraction and use relate to the nation's energy and climate goals.
- 10:30 a.m. – 12:30 p.m. Discussion of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act of 1971 (ANCSA): Review the history and key elements of ANCSA, which extinguished aboriginal land title in Alaska, divided the state into 12 regions based on the common heritage and shared interests of the Alaska Native people within each geographic area, and mandated the creation of for-profit entities, which Congress termed "Alaska Native Corporations," tasked with promoting the social, cultural, and economic advancement of Alaska Native people and communities. A thirteenth Native Corporation was later created for Alaska Natives who no longer resided in Alaska.
- 12:30 p.m. - 1:30 p.m. Lunch

*(* All flight times and specific basecamp destinations in the Arctic Refuge are subject to change based on weather)*

- 1:30 p.m. – 3:00 p.m. Discussion: Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act (ANILCA). ANILCA designated most of the National Park Service units in Alaska, as well as wilderness areas, national wildlife refuges (including the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge), and national monuments across the state. It also established a priority for subsistence uses of fish and wildlife resources for rural residents during times of scarcity. ANILCA is the foundation of federal land management in Alaska and is essential to understanding current discussions surrounding resource management and utilization in Alaska.
- 3:30 p.m. – 6:00 p.m. Guided hike from basecamp to observe geologic features of the Arctic Refuge and view permafrost soils and other features of the tundra landscape. During the hike, discuss oil and gas exploration practices, including seismic surveying, ice roads, and directional drilling technologies.

- 10:00 a.m. - 11:30 a.m. Discuss evidence of melting permafrost and saltwater intrusion from the coast into freshwater systems due to rising Arctic temperatures, trends in these impacts over time, and how they affect wildlife and North Slope communities. Review how communities are considering adaptation of infrastructure and practices to deal with these changes, and how the Infrastructure Investments and Jobs Act of 2021 works to address this, including its investments in a new Tribal transition and relocation assistance program with approximately $216 million in funding to support planning and voluntary, community-led transitions for those Tribal communities which are most vulnerable to accelerating climate-driven impacts.
- 11:30 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. Working Lunch: Overview of subsistence use and how it supports rural Alaskans. Federal law defines subsistence use as “the customary and traditional uses by rural Alaska residents of wild, renewable resources for such direct personal or family consumption as food, shelter, fuel, clothing, tools or transportation; the making and selling of handicraft articles... for barter or sharing for personal or family consumption; and for customary trade.”
- 1:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m. Day-trip flight and hike to visit the Coastal Plain of the Arctic Refuge. Discussion en route with Dirk Nickisch, pilot/owner of Coyote Air regarding recent weather events, wildfire impacts upon aviation, recreational uses of the Arctic Refuge, and changes observed over the past 20 years, which are necessitating changes in business operations. Discussion of the geography and botany of the Coastal Plain and its importance with respect to the Porcupine Caribou Herd's calving and migration activity. (Note: Due to a forecast for deteriorating weather and potentially unsafe flying conditions north of the Brooks Range on Wednesday, August 13th, the basecamp location was not moved to the Coastal Plain and guests returned to their initial basecamp.)

- 5:00 p.m. - 6:00 p.m. Working Dinner: Overview of the North Slope Borough and its villages. Most of the Borough's approximately 11,000 permanent residents live in eight communities: Anaktuvuk Pass, Atkasuk, Kaktovik, Nuiqsut, Point Hope, Point Lay, Utqiagvik, and Wainwright. Utqiagvik (formerly Barrow) serves as the Borough seat of government. Maps will be provided to help guests understand the size and location of these communities.

Discuss the five Special Areas designated within the 23-million-acre landscape and the ecological importance of each as important habitat for polar bears, seals, walrus, birds, and caribou herds that have sustained the Native people of Alaska's North Slope for over 10,000 years. Also review the recent announcements that the Department of the Interior has made regarding the NPR-A, including the development of recently approved oil and gas projects such as the Willow Project, and the administration's recent announcements around the Integrated Activity Plan and regulatory framework for the NPR-A.
- 10:30 a.m. - 11:30 a.m. Discussion of the role that public lands in Alaska play in our nation's carbon management. Alaska contains one third the country's federally managed lands, but stores an even larger share of terrestrial ecosystem carbon stocks-- 62% of all carbon contained in the soils and terrestrial ecosystems of federally managed land is held in Alaska.
- 11:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. Working Lunch: Review estimates on the quantity of methane stored in permafrost in the Arctic along with recent scientific studies analyzing the climate inputs associated with a warming Arctic. Arctic landscapes are a major reservoir of this greenhouse gas, and rising temperatures have been accelerating release from existing stores in the permafrost. View physical examples near basecamp of the slumping of surface soils due to the melting of permafrost and observe changes in the local plant community due to warming in the Arctic.
- 12:30 p.m. - 2:30 p.m. Guided hike from basecamp to observe wildlife and plants and discuss how natural systems function in this arctic tundra landscape, and the use of the Arctic Refuge by migratory birds, caribou, polar bear and other wildlife.

- 2:30 p.m. - 5:00 p.m. Break
- 5:00 p.m. – 6:30 p.m. Working Dinner: Overview of the major caribou herds of the North Slope located outside the Arctic Refuge, including current population data and trends, and management history with a focus on the Western Arctic Caribou Herd and its associated Working Group. Overview of the role of the latest survey data on caribou population counts and fluctuations over time. The Working Group is composed of subsistence users, other Alaska hunters, reindeer herders, hunting guides, transporters, and conservationists, with agency staff biologists and natural resource managers serving in an advisory capacity. The Western Arctic Caribou Herd Working Group meets annually to evaluate the health of what until recent years has been Alaska’s largest caribou herd, and also works to identify concerns, request information, and advocate for actions that will conserve and benefit the herd.

A thirteenth Native Corporation was later created for Alaska Natives who no longer resided in Alaska.
- 12:30 p.m. - 1:30 p.m. Lunch

ANILCA designated most of the National Park Service units in Alaska, as well as wilderness areas, national wildlife refuges (including the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge), and national monuments across the state. It also established a priority for subsistence uses of fish and wildlife resources for rural residents during times of scarcity. ANILCA is the foundation of federal land management in Alaska and is essential to understanding current discussions surrounding resource management and utilization in Alaska.

Eric Dunay
Senior Legislative Assistant
Rep. Sharice Davids
2435 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Eric,

The American Lands Project (ALP) appreciates the interest your office has shown in the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge (Arctic Refuge). The 19.6 million-acre Arctic Refuge is an exceptional and unique landscape. The Iñupiat and Gwich'in people have been stewards of this land from time immemorial, and both groups still depend heavily on the region's subsistence resources. The Arctic Refuge provides critical habitat to polar bears, caribou, musk ox, and hundreds of species of migratory birds.

Land use policy for the Arctic Refuge has varied significantly for many decades. In January 2015, the US Fish & Wildlife Service announced its revised Comprehensive Conservation Plan for the Arctic Refuge that recommended a Wilderness designation for the Coastal Plain area. Later in 2017, legislation was passed that instead opened the Coastal Plain to oil and gas development, and a lease sale was completed in January 2021 with a second mandated lease sale completed in December of 2024. Congress is currently considering proposed legislation as part of the Budget Reconciliation package that would mandate four additional lease sales in the Arctic Refuge Coastal Plain over the next 10 years.

We believe a fact-finding trip to the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge would provide you a valuable opportunity to see and experience first-hand this remote arctic landscape and better understand the dynamic human and natural systems at play in this area.

We would like to invite you and a guest to join ALP for a trip to the Arctic Refuge from August 8th to 14th, 2025 (On the ground in the Arctic Refuge from August 9th – August 13th). The trip will be fully sponsored by ALP, including all travel, lodging, and meals. Attached is a detailed itinerary that includes opportunities to experience some of the most remote country in the United States, and learn about Alaska Native communities, natural systems, energy and climate issues, and the history and land use policy of the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge.

We hope that you will consider joining us for this trip to the Arctic Refuge and would be happy to connect by phone or video conference with you or any of your staff to provide additional information and answer any questions you may have. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Natalie Smink
Education & Trips Coordinator
