TPI Aspen Forum 2025 – August 17-19, 2025

12. The Technology Policy Institute (TPI) is a 501(c)3 research & educational think tank examining the role and economics of emerging and existing technologies. TPI's annual summer Aspen Forum brings together policymakers, academics & industry to explore a myriad of issues related to technology and tech policy. The event is wholly organized and executed by TPI staff.

As an independent economic think tank, the Technology Policy Institute (TPI) plays a crucial role in organizing and conducting the trip, ensuring a balanced agenda for its annual summer Aspen Forum. Here's how TPI fulfills this role:

- Organizing the Event: TPI takes full responsibility for organizing and executing the Aspen Forum. This includes coordinating logistics, securing venues, and managing the overall event planning process.
- Curating a Detailed Itinerary: TPI's staff develops a comprehensive itinerary for the Aspen Forum. This itinerary serves as a blueprint for the entire event, outlining the schedule, session topics, and speakers.
- Incorporating Diverse Perspectives: TPI ensures that the agenda includes a wide range of perspectives by bringing together policymakers, academics, and industry professionals. This diverse mix of participants contributes to a balanced and comprehensive discussion on technology and tech policy.
- Coordinating Venue and Travel Logistics: TPI takes into account factors such as travel times, cost, and accommodations when planning the trip.
- TPI's role in organizing and conducting the trip involves creating a balanced agenda that addresses various technology-related issues, incorporates diverse perspectives, and allows for exploration and relaxation. In its 16th year, TPI Aspen Forum is an important policy conference for technology and communication matters.

Keynote Address: Innovation, Ideas and Economic Growth in the Digital Age

Professor Charles "Chad" Jones, STANCO 25 Professor of Economics at Stanford University's Graduate School of Business and co-recipient of the 2021 Robert E. Lucas Jr. Prize will discuss "Innovation, Ideas, and Economic Growth in the Digital Age" in this keynote address. Jones' research addresses the most pressing economic questions of our time, such as why achieving Moore's Law now requires far more researchers than in the early 1970s, balancing potential enormous AI-driven economic growth with investments to mitigate associated risks, and how population decline in developed nations could fundamentally alter economic development trajectories. At a time when nations grapple with slowing productivity growth, rapid AI advancement, and demographic transitions, Jones' models and data-driven insights offer crucial guidance for policymakers seeking to harness AI's transformative potential while managing its risks.

Panel Discussion: Privacy and Governmental Surveillance

As governments around the world expand their surveillance capabilities, strong encryption remains a cornerstone for protecting personal privacy, securing business data, and preserving digital rights. For consumers, it guards against identity theft and intrusive monitoring; for businesses, it protects intellectual property and builds trust across global markets. Yet, as governmental pressure to weaken encryption intensifies, critical questions arise: How do we preserve strong encryption standards while addressing legitimate security concerns? Can privacy, innovation, and human rights truly coexist with national security imperatives? And how do we resist the false choice between security and privacy that authoritarian regimes often present? This panel will explore these tensions and the global stakes of encryption policy.

Panel Discussion: AI and Energy Markets

This panel will examine how artificial intelligence intersects with our evolving energy landscape. Panelists will explore how power grids must adapt to AI's growing computational demands, whether generation capacity can scale to meet AI's energy needs, what regulatory frameworks and market mechanisms are needed to balance supply with demand, and how AI itself can revolutionize grid management, energy trading, and storage deployment. The discussion will address whether our energy infrastructure can support AI advancement while leveraging AI's potential to accelerate the transition to a more efficient, responsive energy ecosystem.

Panel Discussion: Geopolitics and AI

Competition and cooperation in AI coexist in complex ways across multiple levels of governance. While nations race to secure AI advantages, they simultaneously benefit from technological spillovers that transcend borders, creating a paradox where competitors are also inadvertent collaborators. This session examines AI geopolitics as a multi-layered phenomenon spanning international rivalries, federal policies, and state-level initiatives ranging from the US-China technology competition to EU governance frameworks to safety regulations and competition for talent and investment.

Dear Mr. Zaroni:

Pursuant to House Rule 25, clause 5(d)(2), the Committee on Ethics hereby approves your proposed trip to Aspen, Colorado, scheduled for August 17 to 20, 2025, sponsored by Technology Policy Institute. We note that this trip includes one day at your personal expense.

You must complete an Employee Post-Travel Disclosure Form (which your employing Member must also sign) and file it, together with a Sponsor Post-Travel Disclosure Form completed by the trip sponsor, with the Clerk of the House within 15 days after your return from travel. As part of that filing, you are also required to attach a copy of this letter and both the Traveler and Primary Trip Sponsor Forms (including attachments) you previously submitted to the Committee in seeking pre-approval for this trip. If you are required to file an annual Financial Disclosure Statement, you must also report all travel expenses totaling more than $480 from a single source on the "Travel" schedule of your annual Financial Disclosure Statement covering this calendar year. Finally, Travel Regulation § 404(d) also requires you to keep a copy of all request forms and supporting information provided to the Committee for three subsequent Congresses from the date of travel.

If you have any further questions, please contact the Committee's Office of Advice and Education at extension 5-7103.

Sincerely,

Michael Guest
Chairman

Dear Joe,

The Technology Policy Institute will host its 16th annual summer Aspen Forum on August 17-19, 2025 at the St. Regis Hotel in Aspen, Colorado. It is our pleasure to invite you to participate.

We anticipate this being among the most important TPI Forums to date given new developments domestically and abroad. We will cover artificial intelligence, space, competition, tariffs, broadband, the government's role in promoting science and technology, spectrum regulation, conflicts with China, and much more.

The TPI Forum sets the stage for a wide range of policy debates in Washington in the fall and winter Congressional sessions. Nobel Laureates, tech sector titans, commissioners from U.S. and international agencies, congressional staffers, top academics, and industry leaders routinely attend—often year after year.

We hope you can join us. Please contact us if we can be helpful in any way. We hope to see you in Aspen.

Best Regards,

Scott Wallsten, Ph.D.
