Question # 4

The women were invited to participate based on their demonstrated leadership, subject-matter expertise, and official responsibilities within their congressional offices that directly align with the substantive topics addressed during the San Francisco program. Their work in the areas of autonomous vehicles, healthcare innovation, philanthropy, and emerging technologies position them to meaningfully contribute to discussions with industry leaders they will have an opportunity to meet.

Given their policy portfolios and leadership roles, these participants are uniquely qualified to engage in thoughtful exchanges, ask informed questions, and provide valuable congressional perspectives on the opportunities and challenges associated with emerging technologies and innovation. Their participation will enhance the educational value of these meetings and contribute to productive, bipartisan discussions that are directly relevant to their official responsibilities.

Question 15

GlobalWIN will bring 15-20 Congressional Staff members from Republican and Democratic Offices in the U.S. House of Representatives and U.S. Senate to San Francisco, CA for a variety of meetings and programming on an array of issues with companies at the forefront of innovation and technology, as well as with female leaders in health sciences, politics, and other industries.

San Francisco is a compelling destination for a bipartisan House and Senate staff delegation because it provides direct access to the people, companies, and institutions shaping many of the technologies and industries Congress is actively addressing.
