<< Test First Name >> —

I wanted to personally invite you to join us for CPA's inaugural Industry Week, October 18–22 at the Ponte Vedra Inn & Club in Florida.

CPA will cover airfare, ground transportation, and lodging for participating congressional staff. Industry Week is an approved House and Senate Ethics Committee event.

This exclusive, invitation-only gathering is designed to be very different from a traditional staff delegation or Washington policy conference. We are deliberately keeping the room small and bringing together:

- executives and senior leaders from U.S. companies and domestic manufacturers making major investments in American industrial capacity;
- hedge funds, asset managers, institutional investors, investment banks, and other financial firms deploying capital into American industry; and
- a select group of senior congressional staff and administration officials responsible for many of the policies shaping these sectors.

To RSVP, click here.

Industry Week consists of two focused summits:

Energy, infrastructure, trade, tax, manufacturing, and economic-policy staff should join us for the Industrial Power Summit, October 18–20. The Summit will focus on the enormous increase in U.S. electricity demand being driven by AI, hyperscalers, advanced manufacturing, and reshoring—and the domestic generation, grid infrastructure, equipment, materials, and investment required to meet it.

Health care, pharmaceutical, biotechnology, appropriations, trade, and medicines-supply-chain staff should join us for the Medicines Security Summit, October 20–22. The Summit will focus on rebuilding U.S. capacity for essential medicines, active pharmaceutical ingredients, key starting materials, biotechnology, fermentation, fill-finish, and other critical components of America's pharmaceutical supply chain.

Both summits will go well beyond the normal policy conference dominated by panel discussions. Each day will feature a few short policy panels to frame the major issues, but most of the program will consist of small-group working sessions around the resort, giving congressional staff the opportunity to sit directly across the table from the manufacturers making investments, the investors financing those investments, and senior administration officials shaping federal policy.

For congressional staff, the goal is to provide a much deeper understanding of what is actually happening in the market, what is preventing domestic projects from moving forward, where private capital is moving, and which policy decisions Congress will confront over the next several years.

You can find more information and register at CPAIndustryWeek.com. Please reach out to events@prosperousamerica.org with any questions.

We hope to see you in Florida!

Best,

JON TOOMEY

President
